Pulverized Coal To Cut Electric Cost Mineralogist Says

J. D. Galloway Tells How New Burning System Will Restore Industry on Vancouver Island; Regina, With Pulverized Coal, Gets Electric Power at One-quarter Victoria Cost; Experiments in Canada Related.

Possibility of great cuts in the cost of electric power to the consumers of British Columbia by the use of coal under modern combustion system, instead of the use of water power as at present, was envisioned last night by John D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist, in his address to the members of the Vancouver Island Prospectors' Association on pulverized coal.

Mr. Galloway quoted the case of Regina, where the new super power boiler operating with pulverized coal, has cut the lighting cost to the consumer to 1 1/2 cents a kilowatt hour, and is producing electricity at much less cost than water power, despite the fact that Regina is distant from all coal areas and the coal used there has to bear high transportation costs.

QUARTER OF VICTORIA COST

"While we in Victoria are paying 6 cents a kilowatt hour for our electricity, produced from water power, in Regina they are making electricity at 0.2 cents a kilowatt hour and selling it at 1 1/2 cents," Mr. Galloway said.

"That is the reason why in many places now they are not developing hydro-electric energy, but are putting in steam plants to make electricity. In Seattle they are putting in a new big power plant instead of going to the mountains to harness water power.

"If our coal resources in British Columbia were utilized properly, we might get a lot cheaper power than we are now by going into expensive hydro-electric generation."

TWELVE MEN KILLED BY MINE BLAST

Seven Escape After Explosion in Coal Pit at Arnettsville, W. Virginia

Accident Caused By Accumulation of Gas; Explosion 4,000 Feet From Entrance

Canadian Press
Arnettsville, W. Va., March 26.—Twelve miners were killed to-day in an explosion in the Yukon Mine of the Crown Coal Company here. Seven men escaped. The blast damaged a small section of the works.

The explosion was believed to have been caused by gas. It occurred 4,000 feet from the mouth of the mine.

The mine was opened in 1922 and is owned by Johnstown, Pa., interests. It is a stone mine. Two hundred men are employed in the mine to-day and twenty-five at night.

The men entombed were working in the ninth right heading, where the explosion happened.

Less Divorce Work Soon For Parliament

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 26.—If the Woodsworth private bill to create divorce courts in Ontario is rejected by the House of Commons the government proposes to set up a joint commission of the two Houses of Parliament to see if some method cannot be devised to relieve Parliament of some of the burden and to provide greater safeguards in hearing applications for divorce.

This announcement was made by Premier King in the House yesterday evening.

The Prime Minister was speaking on the McMillan amendment to the Woodsworth bill, which later was defeated, 55 votes for and 106 against.

The amendment, moved by Thomas McMillan, Liberal, South Huron, Ont., would have had the House express regret at the spread of divorce in Canada. It advised a campaign designed to foster the idea of the sanctity of the home in the Dominion.

PAINTERS ASK FIVE-DAY WEEK AND MORE PAY

Request For Shorter Hours and Increased Pay Laid Before Master Painters

Plumbers Said to Have Abandoned Hope of Securing Five-day Week at Present

Visions of a five-day week, with time and a half for overtime, and double time for Sundays, which inspired plumbers of the city to present demands to the building trade recently, have now spread to the painters.

Representatives of the painters interviewed the master painters recently, asking for a five-day week, at $7.50 a day, as against the present week at $6.80 a day which was the agreement made last year. Under the new rate asked the painters would receive 98 cents an hour, compared to the 85 cents now paid, or an increase of about thirteen per cent.

Sam Howard, president of the Trades and Labor Council, confirmed to-day the fact that painters were seeking the new agreement.

HARD TO MAKE MONEY

One master painter interviewed this morning described the five-day week at the higher scale as a little premature. He said: "Many of us find it difficult enough as it is to make profitable work at the scale agreed upon last year, at $6.80 a day for the normal week."

"Some of us would be glad to clear $6.80 a day ourselves, every day. While conditions are as they are at present I think demands for shorter hours and higher scales are more likely to retard the volume of work than to increase it."

While the painters are bringing forward their arguments in favor of the increase and reduced working time the plumbers are said to have abandoned their efforts to secure the same objectives.

BORDER RULES BAR RAILWAY TIMETABLE CUT

Seattle, March 26.—Because of complications which would arise at the border customs offices, the Great Northern Railroad to-day postponed indefinitely the proposed reduction of running time of the International Limited between Seattle and Vancouver, B.C. The time was to have been reduced one hour on the run from Seattle to Vancouver and fifty-five minutes on the return.

Until arrangements with customs officials of both Canada and the United States will allow the shorter time, the train will operate on the old schedule. The new one was to have become effective March 30.

STORM SLOWS UP ROBBERIES IN CHICAGO

Only Six Hold-ups in Sixteen Hours as People of City Plough Through Drifts

Fall of Snow Is About 18 1/2 Inches; Transportation Systems Struggle

Chicago, March 26.—A beleaguered city grined and grunted as it ploughed to work to-day following the greatest snow storm Chicago has ever known. Nearly 18 1/2 inches of snow had fallen in the city up to 2 p.m., surpassing all previous records for continuous snowfall, and the end was not yet. Successive storms at times have piled snow to great depths, but this March "storm" already forty-five hours old, has never had an equal in weather bureau records. The heaviest previous fall was 14.9 inches, January 6 and 7, 1913.

TRAFFIC CROWDED

Putting a shoulder to the stiff wind and taking a slap in the face in return, a good-natured citizen made the best of a crippled transportation and blocked sidewalks. Suburban railways and elevated trains, choked with more than their normal burden of commuters, were running more nearly on schedule than yesterday, when most of them abandoned schedules, trains being dispatched as fast as they could be filled.

Surface lines managed to cut through to the rails on the principal thoroughfares, but streets and suburban lines still were encumbered with ice and snow.

Hundreds of unfortunates called for aid, and 600 vagrants were sheltered in police stations over night.

The weather slowed up operations of the hold-up profession seriously, only six robberies being reported in the last sixteen hours—but the police would have been helpless to compete with robbers, squad cars having been called in, unable to pass through the streets.

Many small jewelry shops, closed their doors and waived claims of fear of holdups and knowing police could not reach them if needed.

The storm, which covered most of northern Illinois, ignored Galena completely, stopping abruptly twenty miles east of that city.

The weather bureau, which knew about this storm only a few minutes before it arrived, today forecast cloudy but clearing and colder weather to-night.

After forty-one days of debate, argument, discussion and recriminations, members of the British Columbia Legislature, most of whom towards the end of the session were plainly weary under the strain of morning, afternoon and night sessions, have packed their grips and started waddling to all parts of the Province yesterday.

The second session of the Twelfth Legislature, which opened in the Government was a record in number of working days, and an even greater record in working hours, by reason of the three-sittings a day towards the end. To midnight and beyond it members sat night after night only to be summoned to duty again at 10:30 in the morning, and in spite of the persistent call to duty, the House was usually well filled.

BACK TO WORK

Farmer members chafed at the long time when it was expected the House would prorogue, and were most jubilant when the rising of the House permitted them to rush back to attend to necessary business. Professions were worried over duties long neglected, and others, more fortunate, mourned over the delay of holidays planned when the House prorogued.

Hon. Nels Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, ignored Galena completely, stopping abruptly twenty miles east of that city.

NEW SECURITY PACT DEBATED NOW BY POWERS

Stimson Asks Orders From Hoover on MacDonald's Naval Parley Suggestion

London, March 26.—Premier MacDonald and Secretary Stimson conferred at the House of Commons this afternoon and later it was reported the Premier had told Mr. Stimson Great Britain was prepared to go ahead with a security pact for France.

Secretary Stimson, after seeing Mr. MacDonald, dictated a long report to President Hoover.

It was said the scope of the security pact would depend on what concessions France was willing to make in her naval treaty of 1923, which was presented to the conference as the French programme.

NO MILITARY PLEDGE

Washington, March 26.—The emphatic statement that the United States government would not consider a military pact that would obligate military support was made to-day by Acting Secretary Cotton of the State Department, who asserted the position outlined by the United States delegation at the London naval parley was that of officials here.

STATEMENT ISSUED

London, March 26.—The United States delegation to the Five-Power Naval Limitation Conference shortly after last midnight issued a statement reiterating its former position of opposition to a so-called consultative pact by which the United States, as the (Continued on Page 19)

ANTI-BOOTLEG ACT WILL CUT BORDER PATROL

Canadian No-clearances Measure Will Ease Situation, Say U.S. Officials

Washington, March 26.—Passage by the Canadian House of Commons of a bill designed to prevent clearances of liquor to the United States was considered to-day by Washington government officials as giving promise of a forceful blow at liquor smuggling across the boundary.

Officials in charge of anti-smuggling activities, expressed the belief that if the bill became a law it would make possible a reduction in the United States border patrol and decrease the smuggling of liquor from border motor boat cargoes to a few bottles by vehicular traffic. It was explained the smugglers would be unable to purchase boat loads of liquor at export docks on the Canadian side for clearance to the United States and would be able to obtain liquor only at government stores, where the sale is limited by the laws of the provinces.

SEACOAST PATROLS

If the bill should become a law, it is said, liquor smugglers would have to export liquor from Canada to St. Pierre, French possession near the coast of Newfoundland, or to the Bahamas, from where it could be re-shipped to the United States. That would necessitate a transfer of enforcement activities and the anti-smuggling crusade from the northern border to the eastern seacoast, where the coastguard and customs services have adequate forces to cope with a run run.

MISSIONARIES IN SOUTH CHINA ARE RESCUED

Shanghai, March 26.—Kiangsi provincial forces, said a dispatch from Shanghai to-day to the Kowloon Nationalist Government news agency, had dispersed communists who were besieging Kanchow, thus making French missionaries safe. United States missionaries were not mentioned.

SEIGE LIFTED

Rome, March 26.—The Society for the Propagation of the Faith, missionary organization of the Roman Catholic Church, to-day received a cablegram from Shanghai reporting that eleven priests at Kanchow, Kiangsi Province, China, for whose safety there had been fears, had been freed by lifting of the communist siege there. All were alive and well.

Dispatches from Shanghai yesterday said the plight of the missionaries at Kanchow was serious. It was feared the Kanchow would be removed, leaving the city open to sack by the Chinese communists who surrounded the city. Previous Shanghai dispatches had said there were ten men and six women missionaries in the city.

Vancouver Has Batch Of Lawsuits

Vancouver, March 26.—Nearly forty lawsuits are pending against the city of Vancouver at the present time, George E. McCrossen, B.C. corporation counsel, said this morning.

In the British Columbia Supreme Court twenty-seven appeals have been taken against the 1930 assessment roll of the city. A batch of twenty notices of appeal reached Mr. McCrossen's desk to-day against Seymour Street assessments.

There are four cases of false arrest and three of malicious prosecution pending in the Supreme Court against members of the police force.

Four actions for damages in the County Court are to be heard shortly, in which the city of Vancouver is defendant.

SEES TRIUMPH OF DISCOVERY

Marconi at Genoa, Italy, Turns on Lights at Sydney, N.S.W., Exhibition

In Radio Message Inventor Congratulates Australia on Its Progress

MARCONI

BEAM RADIO FEAT THRILLS AUSTRALIANS

Sydney, N.S.W., March 26.—An electrical radio impulse initiated on the Marconi Guglielmo Marconi's yacht Elettra in the harbor at Genoa to-day switched on electric lamps lighting the Electric-radio Exhibition here.

The signals from the yacht were picked up at Douchester and flashed by beam radio from Grimsby to Australia, where they were picked up at Victoria and conveyed by land line to the Town Hall here. The impulse there closed a switch, lighting the 5,000 lamps.

A radio message from Senator Marconi congratulating Australia on her strides in recent years in world-wide wireless communication also was picked up.

During the reading of the congratulatory message the lights were switched on prematurely at 7:55 p.m. Sydney time. At the request of the director of the Electrical Association, Senator Marconi switched on the lights again at 8:02 p.m.

Genoa, Italy, March 26.—Short radio waves cutting across the Atlantic, America and the Pacific to-day carried the voice of Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless, from his yacht, the Elettra, here to Sydney, Australia, to open the Electrical Exposition there.

ACROSS 11,000 MILES

Sydney, March 26.—Senator Marconi spoke across 11,000 miles to Director J. Fink of the Electrical Association, reading a message which outlined what he intended doing later in the day—transmitting a small unit of power to Sydney in order to close a circuit there and light the electric lights—the inventor said. "It is not more than thirty years since I transmitted the first faint wireless signals across the Atlantic Ocean. To-day we demonstrate it is possible by wireless to bring powerful currents into operation at other ends of the earth."

He then handed the telephone to A. D. Dr. Herd, Associated Press Staff Correspondent, who talked to Mr. Fink and conveyed the greetings of the newspapermen assembled for the ceremony at Genoa.

STEWART IS SCENE OF EARLY MORNING FIRE

Supply Company's Building and Small Structure and Contents Destroyed

Two Men in Hospital as Result of Jumping From Window

Prince Rupert, B.C., March 26.—Fire which very nearly ended in tragedy visited the town of Stewart this morning when about 3 a.m. the building occupied and owned by the Universal Supply Co., was completely gutted and all contents became a total loss.

The manager, G. W. Smith, was asleep when some men rushed up stairs and told him his building was burning. In the stress of the moment one of the men, Dave Johnson, and Mr. Smith jumped from a second story window. Johnson landed on his head on the sidewalk and Mr. Smith sprained both wrists and hurt himself internally. Both men are in the hospital and are getting along as well as can be expected.

A small building alongside of the Universal Supply Company's place was also destroyed with its contents. Things looked very serious for the town at one period. As the water supply was very erratic owing to the engine stalling at times, fortunately there was no wind blowing.

The loss is partly covered by insurance.

GRAIN PRICE MANIPULATION INQUIRY STARTS

Chicago Board of Trade Members Called to Explain Deals

Chicago, March 26.—The Chicago Tribune to-day said that for the first time since passage of the Federal Grain Futures Administration Act nearly eight years ago, Chicago Board of Trade members were to be called upon to explain reported attempts to manipulate grain prices.

The paper said William B. Massey, as agent for Lamson & Co., John S. Reddy and Philip J. Reddy were named in complaints filed by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde and called for hearing at Chicago April 7.

The complaint was said to charge an attempt to manipulate the price of grain, beginning with an allegedly bogus sale of grain on July 11, 1925. In the period following that sale, the complaint was stated to allege the men, through what was termed "trust schemes and devices," caused to be sold not less than 345,000 bushels of December wheat at prices both lower and higher than the real prices existing when the sales were executed.

Earthquake in Orient Recorded in Victoria

F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Gonzales Observatory, this morning reported a severe earthquake had been recorded on the seismograph, with its centre somewhere in China or Japan. The quake started to record at 11:31 o'clock last night and continued for three hours.

In reporting the occurrence, Mr. Denison drew attention to the fact that there had been very few earth disturbances of late and thought it was several months since the instruments here had been disturbed by one. After long lapses there usually came a severe disturbance. Mr. Denison said, but this one had not been as heavy as the Japanese quake of 1923.

Pensions Inquiry In Ottawa Tomorrow

Ottawa, March 26.—The first public session of the parliamentary committee on pensions and war veterans' problems is slated for Thursday afternoon. The Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League has ready its programme of legislative proposals with which are incorporated those of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada, the Amputations Association of the Great War, the Sir Arthur Pearson Club of Blind Soldiers and Sailors, and the Canadian Pensioners' Association.

The final work of preparation was completed at a series of conferences held by all concerned at the Dominion headquarters of the Legion at Ottawa this week. The Legion will present to the members of the parliamentary committee a brief setting forth the legislative proposals.

As requested by the committee, the Legion is prepared to express its views on the questions of "onus of proof" at the opening session.

PENSION PROPOSALS

With respect to pensions, the veterans' programme includes the following:

- Removal of time limits governing applications of widows and dependents.
- Equitable provision for pensions for widows married subsequent to injury or disease by setting a date before which marriages shall be recognized for pensions and providing for annuity recognition in the future, with adequate safeguards.
- Removal of time limit affecting widows where it is now provided only if death occurs within ten years of the date of discharge or date of commencement of pension.
- That it should be presumed where parents are in a dependent condition that the deceased son, a member of the forces, would have contributed to their support.
- That provision for pre-enlistment disability be reasonably limited unless the percentage of disability was obvious at the time of enlistment.
- RESTORATION OF PENSIONS
- That a pension which has been commuted shall be restored with an appropriate adjustment if disability remains. That pension be paid in accordance with the extent of the disability shown to have existed during the post-discharge period.
- That the Pension Act be so amended as to provide equal treatment for all (Continued on Page 13)

Words, Acts, Personalities Of Great Men To Be Saved For Future Generations

Through the magic of the printing press the thoughts of men live after them. And now the next best thing has been achieved by the magicians (for so they seem to be) who work in applied science—the audible voices and the visible deeds of men, properly synchronized and related, are to be perpetuated beyond the span of earthly life.

This suggests, in the most nebulous manner, a great future for the talking motion picture; and, by the same token, a revolutionary innovation in education. It is quite likely that the newspapers of 1950 will say, when reporting the commencement exercises at universities, "the graduating class was addressed by the late Professor Albert Einstein, who conducted experiments illustrating his theory of the four dimensions."

Or, on some other occasion of that period, the reporter may write (as he could, with perfect accuracy): "Sir Oliver Lodge, who died several years ago, spoke to the audience on 'Action of Forces in Space,' and conducted several interesting experiments during his lecture." Sir Oliver Lodge will be quite capable of doing this—without resorting to a demonstration of his favorite doctrine of spiritualism—for this identical lecture of his is now on record as a talking picture film and has already been given several times, while Sir Oliver himself was at the moment going about his daily affairs in England.

Such possibilities will become of supreme importance in educational activities. The applications need not be confined to the college class-room or to university ceremonies. President Hoover may dedicate a monument to-morrow, or address a convention next week; he may repeat the procedure twenty thirty, fifty or 100 years hence, if he and the occasion are deemed of sufficient historic importance to warrant the repetition. Most likely he will not be alive fifty years hence—but the people of that period will see and hear him at to-morrow's dedication none the less.

Obviously, this is a trifle ahead. The moving picture has long been able to preserve men's actions as silent performers, phantoms of the screen, life-like and natural to be sure, but voiceless phantoms none the less. And the pallophotophone film has made records of men's voices with wonderful fidelity of tone but leaving the auditor entirely in the dark as to what the speaker looked like or what he was doing while he spoke. The talking screen successfully unites both methods in a presentation which is a living episode from the career of the person himself—the nearest science will ever come to projecting an individual's personality through space and time, and so near to the actual ideal that the individual, to all practical purposes, is really present to every major sense but that of touch.

What this will mean for posterity can be rather vividly realized by contemplating what it would mean to the present generation—to each of us—such an invention could have existed during the long centuries of the past. No intelligent person now alive would fail to feel a thrill, perhaps a succession of thrills, if he were to hear and see Alexander the Great on "How I Conquered the World," or Julius Caesar on "Intimates of Roman Politics," or Socrates in his conversations with Plato on improving the soul; or Shakespeare on "How I Became a Playwright—Without Mention of Francis Bacon"; or old Doctor Johnson in a series of dialogues with Boswell in his pleasant, much-sought lodgings off Fleet Street.

To scientists and educators who have gradually become aware of the practical extent to which the talking screen can be adapted in projecting the living personalities of people through their speech and actions, a recent demonstration appeared finally convincing. An audience of three hundred educational leaders at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh a few weeks ago saw to what education is undoubtedly coming when four eminent scientists appeared before them, talked to them and conducted investigations and demonstrations—through the medium of talking motion pictures. These talking pictures were made by General Electric engineers, with photophone equipment of the Radio Corporation of America, in the laboratories of the scientists, who conducted their original laboratory experiments to illustrate their lectures.

In this manner they appeared and talked before the audiences in exactly the same realistic atmosphere as if the men themselves were there—three English scientists and one American. Sir Oliver Lodge spoke on "Action of Forces of Space"; Sir Ernest Rutherford on "The Constitution and Transformation of the Elements"; and Sir William Bragg on "Arrangement of Atoms and Molecules in Crystals." The American scientist, Dr. Irving Langmuir, an assistant director of the General Electric research laboratory, lectured on "Oil Films on Water."

These talking-screen lectures—and the same could be said of countless others that might be recorded by the same means—were every bit as graphic as the original addresses of the several speakers. The audience would have seen no more than a woman have heard more if the lecturers had been physically present. Indeed, they might actually have been less because by utilizing the device of the movie "close-up" the screen lectures enabled everyone in the audience to stand at the lecturer's side and observe at arm's length the details of the experiments. In effect spectators in the front rows of the hall found themselves in the front row instead of the rear row.

Thus, when Sir Oliver Lodge touched a coil of stiff wire fixed in an upright position, causing it to vibrate back and forth, a close-up of the wire made it appear no farther away from spectators than a mere finger's reach. And when he showed how a swinging pendulum is suddenly slowed up when passing through a magnetic field, the apparatus and the experiment seemed to everyone in the audience to be within the radius of a few feet's distance.

Similarly, when Dr. Langmuir conducted experiments with a tiny water droplet, the tiny droplet, which happened to be in the focus of the lens, appeared to be within the radius of a few feet's distance. The tiny droplet, which happened to be in the focus of the lens, appeared to be within the radius of a few feet's distance. The tiny droplet, which happened to be in the focus of the lens, appeared to be within the radius of a few feet's distance.

These advantages, added to the vivid impression of the lecturer's personality made possible by seeing him move and hearing him talk as though he were actually present, made these lectures stimulating to a pronounced degree, as well as highly educational. All this can be rendered available to future generations, not alone to college students, but to the public in general, especially when the talking screen is used to preserve actual events of wide significance and interest. Obviously, however, some definite agency will be needed whose business it will be to obtain the pictures and maintain a library of the films. An educational Hollywood will have to be established, from which the innumerable company of distinguished men and women of the past will come forth upon demand to re-enact the deeds and relate the thoughts, that made them famous while alive. And the talking screen will be the priceless medium reaching back into the years that have gone to present to new generations the living forms and living voices of the leaders of other times.

In the original home of the post-broadcasting in London—how preserved as a literary landmark—a concealed phonograph permits visitors to hear one of his best-known poems recited in the poet's own voice. By means of the other reproducing medium, a complete motion picture record of the recent Edison electric light celebration at Dearborn, Michigan, will always be at the disposal of generations to come. But the supreme heritage, in any way, is a historical record will be achieved—already being achieved—when voice and picture are united in reproducing through both senses important occasions and portraying the prominent personages of an age that has gone before.

In such a manner a graphic story of human life, can be passed down through the long years ahead—a truly living glimpse of all the colorful experiences compressed upon this spot in space we call the earth. A new way toward a better world should certainly result, for the most interesting study of man is man—and taking the best out of the past to make the future still better is the business of the present.

Water For School Grounds
Now Charged For at Average Rate of Nine Cents

A reduced rate for water used in city schools may be asked from the City Council as a result of discussion before city school trustees yesterday evening, when an account of excess water used at the boys' Central School was presented to the board with a report from the building and grounds committee.

The board called plumbers to inspect the water system at the school, and the plumbers could find no reason for the apparent excess of water said to have been used. It was decided, this led to a discussion of what the School Board pays for water throughout the year, when it was reported that in excess of $3,000 annually are paid for water taken from city mains.

Trustees pointed out that much of the water used at the schools is for the beautification of school grounds, and for the culture of flowers, etc. In the light of the fact, the board decided to ask the City Council for a reduced water rate, from the average of 9 cents now paid to a figure more in keeping with what the city charges other bulk customers.

The board of the board was instructed to discuss the City Central bill with the city waterworks department.

An offer by the Kingston-Gillespie Coal Company to demonstrate an automatic fuel stoker at the George Jay School, was tabled for six months, on the recommendation of a committee. No change will be made in the use of school playgrounds at Sir James Douglas School, the board decided, in response to a request that the grounds be thrown open to children after school hours. An additional light is to be installed over a fire exit at the Quaden School, at the request of the Quaden Parent-Teacher Association. The installation will cost $20.

After a routine agenda, the board went into committee to deal with rate matters.

RADIUM COSTS TO BE SLASHED BY NEW SYSTEM

Chemists Make Possible Production From Vast Radio-active Deposits

By W. A. Wells, Associated Press Staff Writer

San Francisco, March 26.—Development of a new process for extracting radium, which it is hoped, will make possible large scale production and the consequent lowering of the price of radium, was announced to-day by the Mar-John Mines Company.

Although the attainments at the laboratories of the company here are too inconclusive to permit of any estimate as yet of the commercial significance of the discoveries, the expectancy exists at the company offices that the new process will eventually bring into production vast deposits of radio-active ores not now operated in competition with Belgian-controlled African ores.

The process announced to-day is largely the work of Arthur Hand Burton, metallurgical chemist. It involves use of both the Cathode ray and the Hassel-Mar current of dynamic electricity. The latter in voltages varying from 500,000 to 3,500,000.

In numerous experiments over a period of more than a year, the ability to recover radium by the new method from the radio-active ore of the old mother lode country was consistently demonstrated, John T. Martin, president of the company, stated. The recovery is from what appears to be virtually limitless deposit in Calaveras County, California, the vein having an extreme width of fifty feet.

The character of the ore, which was turned by the miner of 40 or 50 years, is different from any of the commercially utilized radium bearing ores such as those found in the Belgian Congo and in Utah, and is classified only as a "trek."

METHOD EXPLAINED
Cost of recovering radium, now valued at about $65,000 a gram, depends largely upon the amount of ore which must be treated to produce a given quantity of radium, but the time required for the treatment is a formidable factor and it is in this phase of the industry that the hope of lessening costs is based.

From a horde of period of ninety days, the process of recovery was shortened in the recent experiments to less than thirty from mine to radium sale and it is expected that it will be cut to a week or two or even to a few days.

While the function of the dynamic ray is not fully understood, it plainly hastens the fractionation of the ore and it is the belief of Martin that it is accomplished by "shocking the constituents elements with their own vibration."

The pulverized rock first is put into an acid solution which takes into solution the elements that are soluble in that acid. It is filtered and a catalyst for radium added. Then it is shot with the Cathode rays and barium added to trap the radium and hold it during the remaining steps of fractionation. In the estimated proportion of 1,000,000 parts of barium to one of radium.

Another catalyst is added, then it is attacked directly with the dynamic electricity of one-half to three and a half million volts, sulphuric acid is mixed in. It is filtered and the residue subjected to intense furnace heat, the final step except for the checking in the electroscope and of the spectrograph of the drawn off solution for loss of radio-activity.

LEGACY OF TAXES IS LEFT AS SOUVENIR OF MEMORABLE SESSION

BOUND FOR ARIZONA
Premier Toine to-day is making plans for a trip to Arizona, where he will relax in the sunshine of the sunny south. Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance, welcomed the opportunity to get acquainted with his handsome yacht, on which he plans a cruise as soon as he can leave his office in shape to break away from his duties for a time. A few members stayed in Victoria overnight, but the majority went to Vancouver and most of them on their way home, happy as schoolboys released for a long vacation.

HIGHLIGHTS
The session was a memorable one in many ways. Outstanding was the announcement of the successful outcome of the fight started by the Liberal administration for the return of British Columbia to the railway lands and the Peace River Block.

Beyond that the legislation that drew main attention was:

The budget authorizing $43,000,000 expenditure during the year.

Estimates increased to $28,000,000, the highest on record.

New taxes, including an increase in the gasoline tax, a fuel oil tax, new tax on transportation companies, new personal property tax for schools.

Other activities for which the session will be remembered are:

Curbing of government grants from liquor profits and license fees to municipalities and motor license fees.

Adoption of a new system of arterial highways to be maintained by the government.

Establishment of a system of granting exclusive bus franchises.

Putting the liquor administration back into politics by providing a three-man commission answerable to the government.

Drastic measure to control stock brokerage houses.

Revision of the Marriage Act.

Assumption of control of fish canneries by the province.

Bitter discussion over the dismissal of Norman Watt from the position of government agent at Prince Rupert, into which an inquiry will be held.

Decision to make an inquiry into financial relations existing between the University of British Columbia and the government.

Unsuccessful fight of drugless healers for separate legal status.

Rejection of Oak Bay's appeal to grant exclusive bus line franchise in municipality.

SILENT BACK BENCHERS

Memories of private Conservative members of the session in many instances might not have been as happy as memories of their first session.

Many of the back benchers went through the whole eight weeks without making a remark in the House.

The early closing of budget debate robbed them of the first opportunity when every member of the House is given an opportunity to talk as long as he likes on any subject.

Apprehension of the session, the storm of criticism which the budget, with its increased expenditures and new taxes, aroused dampened the enthusiasm of most of the private Conservatives.

The session was also passed up with a few exceptions. This was in sharp contrast with the previous session, when the private members beyond securing places in the spotlight in those two debates also had a great deal to say about legislation before the House.

From the government side, Hon. J. H. Macdonald, Minister of Education, and Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., minister without portfolio, as the orators called upon to handle the situation when formal and important contributions were in order.

Attorney-General Foote presented his innumerable pieces of legislation in his own way, Premier Toine made few attempts at full dress speeches, although he was in the House for the greater part of the session this year.

Hon. W. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, contributed enough to the debates to display that aggressive side which used to be so valuable to his party when it was in opposition.

LIBERAL TEAM WORK

On the other side of the House the burden was more evenly distributed.

While T. D. Pattullo, as leader of the opposition and a former minister of the government, A. M. Manson, K.C., as former Attorney-General, and Capt. Ian MacKenzie, were naturally to the fore, all the Liberal members were called up to speak on the subject on which they were particularly fitted to deal.

Capt. MacKenzie and George B. Pearson shared honors in the budget debate, and the new member for Nanaimo definitely established himself as a keen financial critic.

In his second session as leader of the opposition, Mr. Pattullo maintained his reputation for being thorough, untiring, keen and effective, eloquent in his attacks on government policy to which he took exception and constructive in his criticism.

Militia Pensions

Act to Be Changed

Ottawa, March 26.—First reading of a bill to amend the Militia Pensions Act was voted in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. It provides for the granting of a pension to the widows of militia officers who were on full pay at the time of their death, but died after the expiration of the period during which a pension might be granted to them.

The purpose of the bill was to make provision for future cases, Hon. James Malcolm, Acting Minister of National Defence, explained. Its provisions were retroactive.

NEW BURGLAR ALARM GUARDS GREAT MUSEUM IN COMMONS

System Makes Metropolitan in New York Thief-proof, It Is Claimed

New York, March 26.—Installation of a super burglar alarm system in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, with its priceless treasures, has made this famous institution thief-proof, it is believed by the museum trustees and the engineers who perfected the system.

Not only is the museum protected against actual theft, but any attempt to molest the treasured objects would result automatically and immediately in imprisoning the vandal within the walls of the museum. The greatest secret regarding the system and its operation is maintained by the museum officials and the Holmes Electric Protective Company, a subsidiary of the New York Telephone Company, which installed it.

According to authentic information, the system recently installed works like the nervous system of a human body.
The instant anyone disturbs any of the protected objects the electric
"nerve" records in the "brain-centre"
the exact point of trouble and also au-tomatically sounds the alarm.

The force of guards always on duty at the entrance and exit doors close all doors with the sounding of the alarm and no one is permitted to leave the building until the cause for the alarm has been thoroughly investigated and all exhibits found to be intact.

At night, with the museum closed, guards have designated posts throughout the building. Their watch tour is so arranged that not one of them is left alone, and in this way they check up on the movements of one another.

The intricate and highly ramified electric wire connections throughout the museum make it a small replica of a city-wide burglar alarm system,
and are the result of nearly a half century of experimentation.

A visitor will not notice strips of tinfoil on the glass enclosed receptacles that contain the priceless objects. But under these unnoticed little strips are the tell-tale invisible electrical wires of communication to the galvanometer. These wires are highly sensitized and the cutting of the glass receptacle or even the lifting of the object would instantly record an alarm.

The famed cup of gold and enamel, called the Rosapiest Cup, by Benven-uto Cellini; the statuette of the god Anon, and the holding of the Car-marion collection of Egyptian antiquities are protected in this way.

The famous Adams gold vase, made of California gold and other metals, is another priceless object which would instantly "scream" out for protection
if any one even attempted to lift it.

MONACO MAY BE REPUBLIC
AFTER UPSET

Monte Carlo, Monaco, March 26.—
The affairs of this 775-acre principality are steadily becoming more involved and close observers think the near future may even see the death of the present regime and the birth of a new republic supervised by France. An election to be held March 30 will have much to do with this.

Since 1448, when Monaco became a vassal state under the protection of the duc de Savoie, its status has been questionable. In 1601 the principality passed under the protection of the King of France, but in 1793 the French National Convention passed a bill under which it was to become a part of the Alpes Maritimes district.

During the Napoleonic era, Monaco scarcely knew where it stood until 1800, when the Treaty of Turin claimed it as a French vassal state governed by the Grimaldi family.

Two years later Francois Blanc arrived in the principality from Hon-gong and signed an agreement with Prince Albert, which after sixty years is causing enough trouble to threaten the overthrow of the Government.

Briefly, Blanc and Prince Albert signed a pact whereby the former was authorized to open a casino providing he paid certain percentages of the receipts to the reigning family and took care of all municipal charges.

Thus there were no taxes and there was much prosperity.

GIVEN CONSTITUTION
In 1906 the Casino suffered a bad year, with the result that the municipality was on short rations. The following year the citizens threatened revolt and the prince appealed them with a constitution.

The war quieted the situation somewhat, but the lean tourist year of 1922 rekindled the fire. Since the citizens pay no taxes the amount spent on civic affairs depends entirely on the much green tables. Leaner years followed and the discontent grew. A nationalist party among the 700 electors became all powerful under the leadership of Eugene Marquet, an architect.

The general idea was to get a new constitution which would give the National Council and the municipal council power to see the Casino Company paid for needed civic improvements even though the company's dividend suffered.

"If we can't write this constitution in ink we'll write it with our own hands," was the declaration of M. Bonaventure, a leader of the opposition party.

NEW ROAD PLANS
In Saskatchewan

Regina, March 26.—Announcement of proposed road construction in Saskatchewan during this coming season together with an enumeration of general policy of the Government highways department, was made in the Legislative assembly by Hon. A. C.
Stewart, Minister of Railways, during the debate on the budget.

Mr. Stewart stated this season's programme involved work on grading of trunk roads, graveling and surfacing these, and preparing colonization roads in newer districts of the province. The total amount to be expended was $6,652,583, he said.

TRADE TREATY IS DISCUSSED IN COMMONS

Gardiner, U.F.A. Leader, Believes Canada Should End
Pact With Australia

Canadian Press

Ottawa, March 26.—Robert Gardiner, U.F.A. leader, speaking in the Commons yesterday on his amendment to a government motion to resolve the House into committee of supply, declared himself in favor of complete abrogation of the Canadian-Australian Trade Treaty. The subject will be discussed further, the debate having been adjourned by Major-General A. D. Mc-Rae, Conservative, North Vancouver.

Mr. Gardiner's arguments were based on a resolution passed at the recent convention of the United Farmers of Alberta. The resolution was not, he explained, based on any desire to secure higher protection for agricultural products. The United Farmers adhered to the view that higher duties would not produce higher prices for farm products.

DISCUSSES MANUFACTURES

The treaty had been negotiated primarily for the purpose of securing markets for the export of goods, he said.
To do this some concession had to be given in return and so the tariff schedules affecting agricultural products had been reduced.

This, he said, meant agriculture was being used to secure markets for the manufacturing industry, which already enjoyed many privileges. He objected to any industry in Canada being used for the benefit of any other.

The only reason Australian butter did not enter this country in greater volume, he said, was that the dumping clause had been applied to it on account of the Peterson subvention scheme in Australia.

EVANS' VIEW

John Evans, Progressive, Rosetown, Sask., said trade treaties were a product of countries whose chief features were protection and the perpetuation of Legislative privilege for certain industries. The Australian Treaty, he believed, should be abrogated.

STEVENS OFFERS AMENDMENT

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver centre, moved a subamendment. It asked the House to declare that "the operation of the existing Australian Treaty indicates the fullest development of trade between Canada and Australia has not been achieved by either country, and the government should endeavor as soon as possible to secure a revision of the treaty to the mutual benefit of both countries."

MINISTER IS REBUKED BUT NOT RESIGNING

Toronto, March 26.—The Ontario Legislature was faced to an unprecedented incident yesterday when Premier G. Howard Ferguson issued a strong rebuke to one of his own ministers. Hon. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health, from the floor of the House, with government and opposition benches filled, the Premier declared the ration of the Minister of Health in adding a postscript to a letter dealing with an application for a member's allowance pension was "regrettable, inexcusable and highly improper."

The postscript, advised J. M. Allan, of Long Branch, to whom the letter was addressed, to seek the support of the police. From the floor of the House, the Premier declared the Minister of Health was "regrettable, inexcusable and highly improper."

Never in the memory of any single member of the Legislature or of the press gallery has the head of a political party used such strong language against any of his followers, let alone a member of his government.

"I will not resign," was all the comment Dr. Godfrey would make to the Premier after the incident.

ABUSE OF POSITION
W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Liberal leader, brought the letter to the attention of the House a week ago, charging Dr.
Godfrey with abuse of his official position.

There was a dead silence as Premier Ferguson rose in his place. "Speaking for myself and for the government," he said, "the incident was only a regrettable, it is inexcusable and improper."
It may be said that in a moment of indiscretion and without thought, that the letter was written. There it is, it is something for the public to interpret.

This government has been exceedingly jealous of its good name and it is determined to maintain the confidence of the public so far as the interest and propriety of its actions are concerned.

Dr. Godfrey, the Premier said, had achieved much while in office. He had been indefatigable and had done much to elevate living conditions, both for young and old in Ontario.

Northerners Told How to Prospect For More B.C. Mines

Smithers, B.C., March 26.—The series of classes in mining subjects given in Smithers by George E. Winkler of Victoria, is now complete. This is a new departure of the British Columbia Department of Mines inaugurated this year. Two lecturers are being employed, these being Dr. Smithers, who is giving the courses in the southern part of the province, starting at Nelson, and Mr. Winkler. The latter is a mining man of many years of practical experience in British Columbia in the course of which he has had the unique distinction of himself finding several mineral deposits of commercial value, the most important of these probably being that of the Suncho Mine on Vancouver Island. He also brings to his work of instruction the technical and theoretical knowledge gained at several of the best mining schools on the continent. In addition to the classes now being completed at Smithers, Mr.
Winkler will go to Prince George, Quebec and Prince Rupert, possibly also going to Stewart and other points of the north coast.

Representations asking for such a course of instruction have been made for the past two years by Omineca branch of the B.C. Chamber of Mines, and it was in consequence of this that the department selected Smithers as a starting point for the series in northern and central B.C. Smithers is also being favored by having the classes extended over a full week, while at other points only three days are allowed this year. The attendance has been averaging about twenty, all keenly interested. All are most emphatic in declaring the lectures well worth many dollars though they are given absolutely free, all that is required of the local people being to provide the hall.
For this purpose the Municipal Hall has been used and proved most suitable.

The course itself as given this year covers twelve classes dealing with elementary mineralogy and elementary geology. The afternoon classes have been chiefly devoted to covering the different kinds of rocks and minerals, for which purpose the lecturer brought with him a set of specimens from Prince Rupert. He was also able to use to advantage the collection of the local Chamber of Mines and many other interesting samples brought in by various prospectors for individual instruction and classification. In the evening lectures on more technical subjects have been given, explaining the formation of the earth, the structure and building up of rocks, rock movements, the geological periods and their relation to ore

RAGERS FOR MORE
All who have attended the course are eager to have it repeated another year and are recommending it very strongly to all interested in mining as being something they cannot afford to miss.

"In planning his lectures Mr. Winkler took the very sensible course of talking in terms of easy understanding to those who might not have a grasp of even elementary geology, because there was the very good argument that those who had such an understanding would logically require no lectures." The Smithers News says. This simplicity of description resulted in a large portion of casual prospectors turning out to the meetings and following the explanations of various specimens of rocks and minerals with absorbing interest.

"If these lectures are intended to encourage a new generation of prospectors while setting in an advisory capacity to those who have experience in the hills, it can be truthfully said that Mr. Winkler handled his task in such a manner as to compel the judgment of complete success—a matter of satisfaction to his audience calling for congratulations to the Department and to the local Chamber of Mines the president of which played such an important role in making the lectures possible."

DO YOU SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION?

Countless remedies are advertised for constipation. Many relieve for the moment but they are habit-forming and must be continued. Others contain calomel and dangerous mineral drugs, which remain in the system, settle in the joints and cause aches and pains. Some are harsh purgatives which cramp and gripe and leave a depressed after effect.

Avoid lubricating oils which only grease the intestines and encourage

THE SESSION

THE SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE which terminated yesterday was much longer than usual. It lasted eight weeks, but, after all, this should not be considered too long a time for our legislators to devote to the business of a province of such diversified resources and potentialities as British Columbia. It was an interesting session in many ways; a good deal of legislation has been added to the statute books. As is usually the case, the debate at times was of a spirited character; a gratifying feature, however, was the evident desire on both sides of the House to co-operate to the fullest extent in the public interest.

Some of the bills, of course, were of a non-controversial nature, but there were others over which there was a sharp conflict of opinion. Among the high-lights in legislation was the act which ratifies the agreement with the Dominion government for the return of the railway lands and the Peace River block. The measure called "The Security Frauds Prevention Act" is sound legislation, since its object is to provide a greater measure of safety for the investing public. The act in connection with the highways of the province is somewhat of an innovation in that it permits the government to assume control of trunk highways passing through municipalities and be generally responsible for them. It likewise confers upon the government the dangerous power to give exclusive transportation franchises over provincial highways.

Considerable local interest naturally was shown in the discussion which arose over the application of a Victoria motor transportation company for an exclusive franchise for a bus service in the municipality of Oak Bay, an application which failed to win the approval of the Private Bills Committee. Another interesting bill which fell by the wayside was that which sought to recognize the professional status of druggists; a contentious question which has engaged the attention of the Legislature at several successive sessions. Of wide economic importance to the province is the act amending the Fisheries Act—not pressed in its original form owing to the widespread opposition it aroused—which contains regulations for fish canneries and packing houses.

Although the change in the Liquor Act will make no noticeable difference in the relations of the public with the government's liquor vending establishments, the amendments which made their appearance in the Legislature in the dying hours of the session were especially significant, as they concerned the relations of the government with the liquor business and the liquor interests. The two principal alterations in the law—one of which this newspaper predicts will certainly involve the government in serious difficulties—are the substitution of a three-man commission for the one-man commission provided for by the old act, and a provision making the board responsible to the government instead of to the Legislature. This latter amendment obviously will require the government to be closer to the liquor business than is good for any government, or for the public welfare.

The fuel oil tax, by the way, caused a good deal of discussion in the House, while the government's decision to limit the amount of liquor profits to municipalities to $1,000,000 annually, and their share of motor license revenue to $570,000, is causing dissatisfaction in many quarters.

There is no doubt that the government has emerged from the session with damaged prestige owing to its financial policy. It had promised economy, debt reduction and reduction of taxation. None of these promises has been kept. Our taxes have not been reduced. On the contrary, the gasoline tax of three cents has been increased to five cents. This has caused dissatisfaction to motorists because it was not accompanied by a reduction of license fees, and also because the revenue from these sources is no longer earmarked for roads. It will go into the Consolidated Revenue Fund—the general till into which all provincial revenue goes—and may be drawn from that fund for whatever purposes the government may desire.

Instead of economies, Mr. Shelly's budget has provided for an expenditure during next year of $28,000,000, an increase of approximately $3,000,000 over the expenditure for the year almost over. Moreover, the government has taken power to borrow approximately $15,000,000 during the next fiscal year, which, together with unexpired loan legislation, will give it power to add approximately $24,000,000 to the public debt before the next session of the Legislature. But it has been explained by the Minister of Finance that he found it necessary to take some of this new borrowing authority in order to meet what he considers are financial deficits of the late government. Yet if that be the case, surely he would be pursuing a sounder economic policy if he reduced expenditure and reduced borrowings so that the discrepancies of which he complains would be more effectively counterbalanced.

In view of this financial programme, therefore, it will be patent to most people that when the government meets the Legislature next year it is more likely to find itself compelled to announce fresh taxation instead of reduced taxation, for we fail to see how increased expenditure and new borrowings are going to produce a surplus.

MR. FERGUSON'S REBUKE

IT IS OFTEN UNPLEASANT AND DIFFICULT enough for a cabinet minister to parry the verbal shafts of an opposition member; but to have to take a sound drubbing from his leader must be much more unpleasant. This was the fate of Ontario's Minister of Health and Labor, Hon. Forbes Godfrey, M.D., whose conduct Premier Ferguson described in the Legislature yesterday as "inexcusable and something the public cannot condone."

It appears that Dr. Godfrey had been advised that the mother's allowance to which a certain Mrs. Callahan, of Long Branch, thought she was entitled had been discontinued because she had taken in a lodger who was not working, who would have to get out and work if Mrs. Callahan was to justify her claim. Apparently the lodger in question continued to reside at Mrs. Callahan's house without paying board. On that account Dr. Godfrey, in his official capacity, informed an official of the Toronto Transportation Commission at Long Branch, who had taken up Mrs. Callahan's case, that she could not get her allowance. Long Branch, by the way, is in Dr. Godfrey's riding.

It would have been quite all right if Dr. Godfrey had let it go at that. But in his own handwriting he added a postscript which read: "See her if you can, and get her support for the 30th, and we will be able to take more time with the case." The letter was written six days before the last provincial election in Ontario. The leader of the opposition got hold of it and read it to the Legislature a few days ago. It since has been reproduced in the newspapers.

Beyond question, all parties in Ontario will approve the stinging rebuke which Premier Ferguson administered to his ministerial colleague.

THE EGG DUTY

THE CANADIAN POULTRY POOL Limited has asked the Tariff Advisory Board to increase the present three-cent duty on foreign shell eggs to nine cents a dozen. A letter from the Canadian Council of Agriculture advised the board that it was doubtful if the suggested increase in the duty would produce the desired result. This body argues that a higher tariff would only have the effect of stimulating production in Canada with a lowering of the present high standard of Canadian eggs. It contends that the result of this would be a glutted market, declining prices and a falling off in consumption due to poorer quality.

At this time of the year Chicago ships large quantities of eggs to Toronto and Montreal and they are offered for sale for as low as twenty-seven cents a dozen for extras, while the cost of production in Canada is between thirty-eight and forty cents a dozen. British Columbia comes into the picture because the foreign egg comes out of our egg in the eastern Canadian market at a time when our very excellent hens are living up to the height of their reputation from the point of view of quantity as well as quality.

Although he supported the application for a higher duty, Mr. A. W. Neill, M.P. for Comox-Alberni, said the poultrymen of this province were facing a serious situation, mainly brought about by high freight rates on poultry and feed from the prairies; but he expressed the view that if the Dominion government would pass an act similar to the British Columbia Egg-marks Act—which requires all foreign eggs coming into this province to be stamped with the country of origin—it might go a long way towards solving the problem. Mr. Landreth, representing the Pool, thought so, too, and said the various provincial governments had been asked to follow this province's example in the matter, but without results so far.

The attitude of the Canadian Council of Agriculture obviously commands respect. Consumers of eggs, as distinct from many other commodities, insist upon the highest standard of quality. There is a rooted objection to the foreign egg on this ground, an objection, of course, often ill-founded. But it is there all the same. Hence, if all the eggs coming into Canada from outside were marked with their country of origin, there is little doubt that Canadian consumers would soon shun them and buy their own products, even if they did have to pay a little more for them. But it also is to be borne in mind that when eggs retail for more than what is considered a reasonable price, the demand instantly drops. This is a factor which should modify an application for a nine-cent duty. All duties are paid by the consumers.

LURE OF THE TOWN

The successes of a few in the cities dazzle the youth of the country, but it should not be overlooked that where a few achieve wealth and places of prominence millions and millions plod along with a bare living and many scarcely are able to make that.

THE FRENCH IN SASKATCHEWAN
The Regina Leader
The French-Canadians are a small minority in Saskatchewan, and while a French-Canadian likes to hear and see his own language—as do the people of all other races—it is only the wildest imagination that can charge that this natural bent toward the language of his forebears links him with a plot to force the French language on the people and institutions of Saskatchewan.

MOOSE JAW AND POWER
The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix
The citizens of Moose Jaw have voted in selling their light and power plant to the Iowa Southern Utilities. News of the result was received with rejoicing. It is to be hoped that four or five years hence the Moose Jaw people will be as happy about the transaction as they are now. The experience of other places in North America suggests that they may have a disappointment in store.

FOREST PLANTATION
The Minneapolis Journal
The State of Nebraska is engaged on a programme of forest plantation. Two acres with more than 200,000 acres between them, once barren sand hills with hardly any vegetation at all, now are thickly forested with pine timber. Jack pine seedlings taken from Minnesota in 1903 have reached heights of forty feet, and yellow pine planting from the west are thriving also.

Nebraska, almost wholly a prairie state, appreciates trees. So its people are building up forests and planting wood lots. The first Federal forest reserve, established by President Roosevelt, has been expanded, and others have been added. One nursery supplying the reserve and furnishing some trees for farm wood lots is producing 5,000,000 transplants every year.

A SUGGESTION

To the Editor—Allow me to offer a suggestion to the Fire Warden's remark on the "stop" signals. It would be simpler if we went back to the hand pulling fire reels, and then no "stop" signals would be needed at "stop" signals.

COAL COSTS

To the Editor—I note in a recent issue of The Times that a statement that coal only costs $3.50 per ton at the pit head. Speaking as a mining engineer, I would say these figures are about right. The highest rates paid about the coast do not cut much figure, as the average miner on this continent produces nearly twice the coal per man as the British miner who has been taught for years to "Cr. Canby." The hard rock miners raise thousands of tons of gold, silver and copper ore to the surface, for less than the cost of the coal. The coal miner, however, has to drill, blast, haul, and load his coal, and then he has to get his fuel for power at first cost.

Mr. Foster overlooks the fact that years ago, before the advent of so much automatic coal mining, the cost of coal in Victoria and Vancouver for $6 per ton in our bins. How come we pay $10 and $12 per ton now? We will suppose for the sake of argument that it costs $5 per ton f.o.b. Nanaimo, does Mr. Foster, as a practical man, mean to argue that it costs $3 per ton to pay two legions of men (whom he calls "scabs") and the cost of transportation, and cartage to the consumer?

I remember in Great Britain twelve cents a ton on coal was considered a good profit, and I have bought thousands of tons of Pennsylvania and Virginia coal in Cobalt, Ont., for use at our mines for $6 per ton—so how much profit did the United States vendors make on their product?

Mr. Foster's figures on prices of coal in Great Britain, I understand, are correct. I know the British coal miner is only making a small profit, but he certainly is not losing money. According to the best figures I can obtain, he gets twenty-five cents per ton for his bunker and wholesale sales. As the average miner is working harder than he did before the war, production costs are falling, and the government will do as they have done with bread, meat, etc., this is to protect the masses. Coal is a natural product and should be sold at the lowest possible price, in proportion. We try to attract tourists here and when they come, we charge them $4.50 for a quart of Scotch whisky that costs little over a dollar in Scotland. This policy has, in particular, it is to a sportsman's paradise, and then allow the cannery and fertilizer operators to clean up the sea of fish.

I hope Mr. Foster will follow his talk by really doing something to help the people that cannot help themselves. The highly paid union men needs no help. The general public does.

TRADES UNIONISM

To the Editor—Generally speaking, an anonymous letter should be ignored, but Tradesman who writes in Monday's Times says "it is necessary to flag the representation before a gullible public, etc." There are two answers to this. The first is that nothing regarding trades unionism has been misrepresented thus far, nor will be. He himself has omitted to point out our misrepresentations, but may remember and rectify the omission. The second answer is that the public is not gullible, not by a long shot. Trades unionism has been talked too much on the supposed gullibility of the public, and it just doesn't exist, except in his own imagination.

He admits that in his own career of paying dues and initiation fees he has often thought he was the loser. The non-union worker has known it for years, and has spent the dues and fees for necessities, not luxuries.

In an apparent attempt to justify the present demand for $2.50 per hour for overtime he says "daylight employment can be enforced by punitive charges for overtime." This is his very latest argument so far. We are having eleven hours of daylight right now; soon we shall be having fourteen hours of daylight, and which will be punitive charges, or $2.50 per hour. He will agree that Saturday morning is generally all daylight—the most gullible will admit that—yet under the present proposed increase of wages to plumbers, working four hours at the house of a laborer would not only be entitled to charge $10 for the morning, but would be fined if he charged less. BEATTY COMMISSION REPORT

Ottawa, March 26.—In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon E. J. O'Leary, U.F.A., Bow River, asked if the Beatty Royal Commission report would be implemented this session. The Prime Minister said he could make no statement until the remaining estimates were brought down. O. L. Boulanger, Liberal, Bellechasse, Que., corrected what he stated were inaccurate statements which had appeared in The Ottawa Journal in regard to his bill to amend the Civil Service Act respecting preference to returned soldiers.

Regina, March 26.—J. Featherstone, of Stretville, Ontario, was elected president of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association yesterday evening at the annual meeting of the body here.

MAJORITY FOR ANTI-BOOTLEG BILL WAS BIG

Ottawa, March 26.—The bill to amend the Export Act is now in its second stage. The next action on the measure to stop clearances of vessels carrying liquor destined for the United States will be by the Senate, the Commons yesterday having given it third reading.
The Commons vote was 173 to 11.
The meagre opposition came from varied groups and parties. Major C. G. Power, member for Quebec South, was the lone Liberal who voted against the bill. Further down on the government side, Henri Bourassa, Independent member for Labelle, Que., also recorded his opposition. Eight Conservative stood up when the call was sounded for those who opposed the bill. They were C. H. Cahan, St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal; Hon. R. J. Manion, Fort William; Joseph H. Harris, Toronto-Scarborough; Dr. M. J. Maloney, Renfrew South, Ont.; C. W. Bell, Hamilton West, Ont.; Col. S. C. Robinson, Essex West, Ont.; R. H. McGregor, York South, Ont.; and L. W. Johnstone, Cape Breton, North-Victoria. From the benches of the Labor group, A. A. Heaps, Winnipeg North, also voted against the bill.

Peru Becomes First To Join in on World Wheat Fair at Regina

The first acceptance of the invitation to participate in the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, Regina, 1932, came from Peru, through its Minister of Foreign Affairs. Due to its diversified climate practically every agricultural product known to man can be raised in this South American country—sugar, cotton, coffee, rice, cacao, wheat, maize, grasses, alfalfa, etc. Peru exhibitors may play a very important part in the many competitive classes.

There is one class in the rice section. The total prize amount is $2,000, first, $200, graded down to $12 for the thirtieth. Each exhibit must bear the name of the variety and consist of twenty-five pounds. Canada does not grow rice, but the inclusion of this class is proof of the fact that the prize list of the World's Grain Show is arranged to suit as many nations of the world as possible. This, with the large amount of the cash prizes, is bound to insure a very large number of exhibits from many countries and thus provide keen competition.

Field Beans—The total of the cash prizes in the field beans class at the World's Grain Show amounts to $3,000. Each exhibit must bear the name of the variety and consist of thirty pounds. (1) White, medium or large: First, $150 graded down to $13 for twenty-fourth. (2) White, small. (3) Any other type or color. The prizes in classes 2 and 3 are the same as in class 1.

There are two types of people in the world—those who go away and those who stay at home. We envy the venturesomeness of the prodigals who have their fling. We forget the more daring heroism of those who stay and risk the rewards of virtue and the satisfactions of truth.

The best we know about the prodigal is that he comes back. He gets a lot of thrills in going wrong, but the biggest thrill is in coming home to the old reliabilities of faith and life.

A man can never go all the way and stay away. The far country is fine for dissipation, but a poor place to settle and raise a family in.

One can deny the old faith, sneer at the old virtues and flout the old ideals, but while he is wasting his substances and getting thinner and sicker, the old ideals and virtues are waiting unbroken and unworried for him to come back to.

When the prodigal takes his portion and wastes it on prostitutes and revelry he is played up in the headlines. But when he comes back, broken and repentant, only his Father and the church and the angels take note.

To make the world safe for prodigals someone has to stay at home and burn the home fires brightly. Because the prodigal will come back.

Glass Overproduction May Bring Low Prices

A downward move in glass prices is highly probable and if January overproduction in this commodity is not corrected, sizeable reductions may be forthcoming. The two major consumers of plate glass, the automobile industry and the building trades, are showing a decrease in activity as compared with last year.

Seventy-five per cent of the plate glass manufactured goes into the automobile trade. The Brookmire Economic Service Inc. points out, and figures a production of 3.5 million cars and trucks in 1929, factories in the United States and Canada will do well to dispose of 4.5 million this year. The report states that Ford will probably produce a larger proportion of the four million or so cars in 1930 and that less plate glass per car will be needed.

VOTE FOR SALARY CUT

Sydney, Australia, March 26.—The Nationalist and Country parties, in joint meeting yesterday, decided to vote in favor of a fifteen per cent reduction in their parliamentary salaries. The two parties form the backbone of the opposition in the Federal House, and until the Labor victory of last year comprised the National-Country Party Coalition Government under the Premiership of Right Hon. Stanley Bruce, who had as his treasurer, Hon. Earl Page, leader of the Country Party.

Manufacturers Fight Plan to Label Tin Percentage in Silk

New York, March 26.—Apparently nothing is to be done about the situation in the silk industry, under which mislaid has been dressing largely in a metal which is generally used for food containers and roofing and was once popularly supposed to clothe a certain motor car. A conference recently called by the American Standards Association to discuss the evils of "weighting," as the process of adulterating silk with tin salts is called, broke up without any definite excesses of weighting which alarm even the manufacturers and for which the ultimate consumer is innocently responsible.
It must be explained that the tin salts in weighted silk are soluble in water. This accounts for the permanent spots which water makes on satin and the falling to pieces of some other silks after a few washings. Moreover, tests have shown that weighted silk is harmful to the health of the wearer and in some cases silk cloth has been found so heavily weighted that it cracks.
Thus it happens that the ultimate consumer, who has no way of knowing how much weighting there is in the silk she buys, is in a helpless position.

Even worse, she is led to buy the silks which are most heavily weighted, because they are heavier and more suave to the touch than the pure variety, and they cost less.

A leading manufacturer, who was asked at the conference whether he thought the consumer would be willing to pay a little more for pure silk, said he was sure the consumer would not. He declared that his company has made every effort to sell pure silk to the public and has found that the public does not want it. Weighting silk has thus been "forced" upon the manufacturer, but it has been carried to so great an extent by some of them that the industry has for some time been trying to set up standards for its own protection.

Now the American Home Economics Association is taking up the cudgels on behalf of the consumer. The association, most of whose members are teachers of home economics in high schools and colleges, desires not only that standards of manufacture be adopted, but that all silk be labeled with the degree of weighting, so that the consumer may know what she is buying.

Against such labeling the manufacturers seem prepared to make a determined stand. They claim that "proper" weighting is not generally harmful and that it more than compensates for the loss in wearing qualities by a gain in appearance. It is pointed out also that if silk cloth were labeled by the manufacturer, the labels could be removed by dishonest clothing makers, leaving the consumer just as much in the dark as before.

SUMMER'S SAFER NOW FOR BOTTLE-FED BABIES

Summer brings its wealth of health-radiating sunshine, but it also brings a danger that casts a cloud over the heart of many a mother of a tiny bottle-fed baby.

For summer is the danger time for milk. Even in the cities where the health supply is closely watched by the health authorities, many babies suffer from intestinal infections that come from bacteria in the milk. The best home refrigeration, the most careful home pasteurization, are often powerless to insure the perfect purity of the baby's food.

Science finds a germ-free milk. But now this problem, so important to countless mothers, has been solved by the discovery that there is a germ-free milk which is, at the same time, equal from every nutritional standpoint to the best bottled milk.

This is unsweetened evaporated milk, which, as you probably know, is pure whole milk with part of the natural water removed, with nothing added, and with its purity absolutely insured by sterilization in air-tight cans. There can be no disease-carrying bacteria in this milk. An unopened can of it will keep its purity indefinitely in the hottest weather, without ice.

The food value of this milk has been approved by some of America's greatest authorities on baby feeding. Unsweetened evaporated milk contains all the elements that make milk a perfect food. It contains all the vitamins that any milk is dependent on to supply, and the only supplements required are those now prescribed with milk in any form, such as orange juice and cod-liver oil.

Much easier to digest.

Another reason why unsweetened evaporated milk is in such favour is that it is more digestible. Because of the heat treatment that it receives it forms very fine, soft curds, almost exactly like those of mother's milk. And its butterfat globules are broken up into such microscopically tiny ones, by a process called "homogenization", that the baby's stomach assimilates them easily.

Mothers who use unsweetened evaporated milk are delighted, not only because their babies do so well on it, but because the feedings are so easy to prepare. This milk is already sterilized. It is simply mixed cold and poured into bottles—with no tedious pasteurizing, no straining, no tricky filling of hot bottles with hot milk, no slow cooling off afterward.

In buying evaporated milk for baby feeding it is important to choose a brand that is known to stand for highest quality—such as Carnation Milk, the well-known milk "from contented cows". The unusual care which protects this milk all the way from dairy farm to grocery is the mother's guarantee that her baby's milk is surrounded by every scientific safeguard.

The Carnation Baby-Feeding Chart will tell you more about this good milk, and your own physician will prescribe the correct formula for your baby. To obtain chart and Carnation Cook Book, address Carnation Co., Limited, 134 Abbott Street, Vancouver, B.C.

And remember

Baby's milk is always safe if it is Carnation Milk. It is free from all bacteria, high in food value, and more digestible than milk in any other form.

MAKE MUSIC FROM ORDINARY KITCHEN UTENSILS

The Kitchen Cabinet Band, which was organized by Mrs. W. J. Smith of 223 Wilson Street for St. Saviour's Church, two years ago, is a practical demonstration of the artistic use which may be made of very mundane things. With such unpromising material as kitchen pots and pans, nutmeg-graters, tin funnels, plate-borders, flour-sifters and other material familiar to the housewife, this aggregation of amateur musicians have fashioned instruments from which they produce amazingly musical numbers, the harmony being a revelation to their audience. The uniforms are striking, the women wearing white skirts, sleeveless scarlet tunics with tin spoons arranged to simulate the gold braid of a military uniform, and scarlet "shako" helmets, with a tin spoon as ornament. The men all wear the regulation white costume of a chef, complete with cap, to carry out the kitchen idea.

The story, to which the band plays selections of well-known songs, is centred in Love Villa, and is of a romantic nature. Robin Adair meets Annie Laurie, and then proceeds the developing stages of love, courtship and marriage, which are thrillingly told by word and music, until, at the last, after all wanderings cease, and love has ripened to a grand old age, the happy couple in their fading years enjoy the well-earned privileges of "Home, Sweet Home."

The personnel of the band follows: Conductor, Mr. F. Walters; pianist, Mrs. W. J. Smith; rector, Mr. Ben Temple; managing director, Norman Fraser; reader, Mrs. McIndoo; soloists, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Hughes; musical saw artist, J. Mackenzie; drummer,

The band will give a concert under the auspices of the Victoria Women's Institute on Friday evening in the institute rooms, 203 Union Building, the proceeds to be in aid of the institute funds. During the intermission, Mrs. H. T. Locke will give a vaudeville number, accompanied on the musical saw by Mr. Mackenzie.

FIRST UNITED Y.P.S. ACTIVE

The schoolroom of the First United Church was filled to overflowing on Monday night when the Young People's Society held its second concert of the season. About forty young people took part in the programme.

The violin solo by Geo. Tate, selections by the mandolin trio and Pat Campbell's Chinese Choral Society proved very popular, while another outstanding feature was the comic school skit under the excellent leadership of the professor, John Gough. A warm tribute was paid by Rev. Dr. Wilson to John Smith and Miss Jean Menzies, the organizers of this unique entertainment. An interesting event of the evening was the presentation of part of the proceeds of the concert in the form of a cheque to Professor E. S. Farr, superintendent of the Sunday school, by John Taylor, the president of Y.P.S. for the purchase of suitable literature for the schoolroom. Miss W. Campbell and Miss M. Hayman appointed to act on the purchasing committee.

PRESENTATION MADE
In recognition of splendid devotion and leadership in young people's work in First United Church, Miss Jean Menzies was appointed a delegate to the International Youth Conference to be held in Toronto from June 23 to 28, at which forty Canadian delegates will be present. After paying tribute to Miss Menzies for her work, Robert Wallace called upon Miss Nancy Stark, who presented her with a substantial cheque to defray part of her expenses.

John Gough presided over the evening's entertainment in his usual capable manner, and Miss D. Morton and J. Smith proved efficient accompanists.

The tennis committee, with Gordon Robson as chairman, is working hard to complete plans for erecting two tennis courts on the corner of Cathedral and Cook Streets. The young people are assuming full responsibility of the financial part of this venture. Special contributions have already been received. About forty members will be enrolled, and an exceptionally active season is anticipated. T. Yull and F. McGregor have been appointed to act as an advisory committee to the young people.

Next Monday night the semi-finals debate will take place. The contesting sides, the Astoria and Esquimalt, will dispute the subject, "Resolved That Buying on the Installment Plan is Beneficial." Musical numbers will be added attractions.

The season's indoor activities of the Y.P.S. will be brought to a close at the end of April.

Infirm Patients
The Fellowship Club held its monthly tea and entertainment in the two rooms of aged and infirm patients at Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon, when musical numbers were contributed by Mrs. Lucy Bosworth, organ; Mrs. M. Thornbore, violin; Mrs. Gould, Mrs. Farnthorpe and Mr. Ross, vocal numbers. Community singing was also much enjoyed by the patients and visitors. A delicious tea was served by the club. The next entertainment will be an Easter treat, when the Schubert Club will give the programme.

On Tuesday, April 8, Mrs. Christian Stever, 1270 Denman Street, will lend her home for a card party, to which the public is invited. These card parties are arranged to raise funds for the purchase of fruit, sweets and other comforts distributed weekly by the club to the aged and infirm patients, a work in which the club would welcome public support.

YOUR BABY and MINE by MERTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

SAND-PILE WILL KEEP CHILD OCCUPIED AND HAPPY
Few things are so calculated to startle the day out brightly as a letter patterned on the following. No one can expect that all mothers will have such outstanding success, but we are happy to hear of those who do.

"Your feeding leaflet has been a wonderful help to me," writes Mrs. W. R. B. "and it is almost beyond repair from so much handling. My two-year-old has never had a sick day and neither has his eight-months-old brother. I want to thank you for your share in it. Now I am wondering if this will help you."

"So many mothers complain of the difficulty in getting their first babies to play alone. I had a terrible time until we built a very inexpensive fence of lath and put in a sand-pile. We fenced in an area about thirty feet square (fencing out afterwards we need not have fenced so much) and used for that three bundles of lath, and two-by-fours for posts. The total number bill was about seven dollars. We found this much more durable than chicken wire would have been, which was what we first considered. Two seven-foot-one-by-four boards in one corner were enough to hold a load of sand which cost $2.00. We used a piece of canvas over one side instead of the shade tree which we didn't have. Even then the little boy was lonely some until I provided him with a big pail of water besides his coffee cans, spoons, shovels and so forth."

UNITED W.M.S. AIDS MISSIONS

Victoria Presbyterian Among Best Reports at British Columbia Conference

Vancouver, March 25.—A resume of the past year's work as given to-day in the corresponding secretary's annual report at the B.C. conference branch of United Women's Missionary Society of British Columbia, showed an increasing number taking an interest in the work of missions.

Speaking of the various Presbyteries, Mrs. J. Macpherson, the secretary, said that Prince George had only one auxiliary, and a year of more than usual difficulty. Kamloops-Okanagan Presbytery reported a successful year, reached its allocation and had an increased membership. From Armstrong Kootenay Presbytery had two new auxiliaries and a new mission. From Prince Rupert had come reports of difficulties not overcome for need among the people is evident, and not much missionary money could be raised.

VANCOUVER SHORT OF OBJECTIVE
Vancouver Presbytery, with almost half the W.M.S. strength of the province, reports inability to reach the objective of $22,037, reported Mrs. Macpherson. From Victoria Presbytery came word that in most instances allocations seemed to have been raised more easily than in the past, and with few exceptions by voluntary contributions. In particular some good rural work was reported, and a twenty-fifth birthday was celebrated by one auxiliary, with its eight charter members still living.

One auxiliary in Westminster Presbytery is giving missionary education to the boys and girls in its Sunday school, and an auxiliary conference at Abbotsford proved beneficial. Special interest is taken in supply work, quilt, clothing and many needed articles being sent to the Girls' Home in Burnaby and twenty Christmas boxes dispatched.

Mrs. Macpherson's statistical report showed that the total for the branch is 127 auxiliaries with a total membership of 3,514; total amount raised for the year was $30,811, and $38,700 was sent to the Dominion treasurer.

Stomach Troubles Are Due to Acidity

Tells of Pleasant Home Treatment to Bring Swift Relief

So-called Stomach Troubles—indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, sourness, etc., are in probability nine cases out of ten, evidence of "too much acid" in the stomach, causing the food, causing the formation of gas and starting acid indigestion. Gas distends the stomach and causes a full, oppressive burning feeling known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining. Get rid of Gas and Acidity, and you get rid of Indigestion.

To stop or prevent the sourness and gas, to neutralize the stomach acids and keep the stomach sweet and free from indigestion, a teaspoonful or four tablets of Sheen's Polychrome should be taken in a little water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, pain or acidity is felt. This quickly restores the stomach, neutralizes the acidity, stops the pain and is harmless and inexpensive to use. Effervescent Macneils powder or tablets only can be obtained from any drug store and its daily use keeps the stomach in fine condition, enabling it to do its work without the aid of artificial digestants. (Adv.)

Rid teeth of dangerous, glue-like FILM

Remove FILM daily. Ordinary brushing methods fail. Employ this special way

TOOTH DECAY is caused by germs. Pyorrhea usually results from germs and tartar. Germs are imprisoned in a dingy, glue-like coating on the teeth called film. There they breed by millions in contact with the teeth and tissues in every crevice.

Film clings so stubbornly ordinary ways are not successful in removing it. Use the special formula called Pepsodent. You instantly notice the difference in the way it feels. Film vanishes. Teeth become gleaming white. Yet Pepsodent acts gently. No pumice, harmful grit or crude abrasive—but a soft, creamy paste that is prescribed for the softest teeth and tenderest gums.

GIRL MATRICIDE READ "THRILLERS"

Girl Who Murdered Mother Partial Invalid Since Birth, Says Father

North Bay, Ont., March 26.—"Rene read too many thrillers. She filled her head with them, and they made her do this thing," said W. R. Foster, father of the fifteen-year-old girl who Monday confessed to police she had killed her mother with a hatchet in the family home, following a dispute over the daughter's keeping company with a boy she said she loved.

At the inquest on Monday evening, Irene declared she had killed her mother when the latter remonstrated with her for keeping steady company with a boyfriend at such a tender age. Interviewed yesterday, Mr. Foster said his daughter, the youngest member of the family, imagined herself in the role of "bad girl" in a detective thriller.

The father described the anxious periods his wife and himself had experienced in rearing the girl, who had been a partial invalid since birth. "She had suffered since she was a baby. She had trouble with her ears and teeth and though she is now past fifteen years of age, she had not yet cut her second teeth."

Mr. Foster said he did not think Irene's explanation of the quarrel between herself and her mother was true.

The youth's name had never been mentioned in the family to his knowledge, he said.

"I do not believe there is a boy by that name," Mr. Foster added. "But there is a boy 'by that name'."

Stevens Amendment on Canadian-Australian Pact Debated

Ottawa, March 26.—The galleries were sparsely filled at the opening of the House of Commons this afternoon.

EXCURSION TRIP BILLED FOR MAY

Princess Kathleen Will Take Annual Day Jaunt to Seattle on May 16

Announcement was made this morning that the C.P.R. coastal steamer Princess Kathleen will come out of her winter berth early in May and will take her annual summer excursion trip to Seattle on Friday, May 16. The Kathleen has been taking this special trip to Seattle for several years now and it has always proved a popular event, the full capacity of the ship, 1,500 passengers, making the day trip to the Sound, port and return. Many will be interested in the date of this year's excursion.

The trip again this year will be under the auspices of the local Upland Club. The Kathleen will leave Victoria at 9 o'clock in the morning and, arriving in Seattle at 1 o'clock, will give the excursionists five hours in the Sound port before leaving for home at 6 o'clock. Victoria will be reached about 10 o'clock in the evening.

An orchestra will be carried for dancing and entertainment, and luncheon and dinner will be served on board—luncheon before arrival at Seattle and dinner immediately after sailing.

The following day the Princess Kathleen and her sister ship, the Princess Marguerite, will commence the summer triangle service between Victoria, Vancouver, and Seattle.

Since 1966 the South African Government has been making considerable efforts to improve the living conditions of its black population.

rank in the matter of helplessness allowances.
APPEAL QUESTIONS
The following provisions touch on the Federal Appeal Board:
That the time limit be removed so that newly discovered evidence may be submitted for consideration, after unsuccessful appeal has been made to the Federal Appeal Board, at any time this evidence is obtainable.

That an appeal shall be made possible in respect of any decision by the Board of Pension Commissioners. That provision be made that cases coming within the intent of and decided prior to the 1928 amendment to the Pensions Act, respecting medical classification of disabilities be reviewed.

That the attention of the committee be directed to the congestion which at present exists in the work pending before the Federal Appeal Board, and that as such congestion is causing hardship, therefore inquiry should be made as to the cause and the necessary steps be taken to provide relief, and that consideration be given to reorganization and direction of the official soldier advisory system with a view to greater efficiency in this service.

That the opinion of specialists, appointed in a manner to be prescribed in tuberculosis and other diseases of insidious onset and slow progression, as to service relationship of the disease, shall be accepted for pension purposes.
That provision be made for an allowance for certain classes of tuberculosis pensioners who are householders, so enable them to have suitable housing accommodation, and that nursing care or an allowance in lieu thereof be provided for pensioners not in hospital when necessity is shown.

DEPARTMENTAL RULES
The departmental regulations are considered in the following proposals:
That provision be made for reimbursement of medical expenses and payment of compensation incurred in connection with a pensionable condition prior to the admission of entitlement to pension.

That reasonable allowances and expenses be paid in all cases to members of the forces attending boards.
INSURANCE PLANS
Returned soldiers' insurance proposals are:
That the time limit for government applications for insurance under the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act be further extended.

That provision be made for insuring conditional policies, with adequate safeguards, to those not eligible under existing legislation, and that amendments be made in the conditions and terms under which insurance is now paid.
In addition to these, proposals will be put forward respecting British veterans, the Militia Pension Act, civil service, Royal Northwest Mounted Police veterans and other matters.

In connection with all these proposals, Lieut.-Col. L. R. Lafleche, Dominion president of the Legion and spokesman for all veterans, and the officers of the headquarters staff of the Canadian Legion, will appear before the committee to furnish details of the conditions which it is proposed should be corrected by the passing of remedial legislation.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A public circle will be held in Harmony Hall, Fort Street, by the Universal Church of Christ to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The first swallow, herald of spring, arrived in Victoria at 9 o'clock this morning, according to Charles Hartley of 490 St. Patrick Street.

A decree absolute with custody of children was awarded to Charles Ballam, petitioner, suing Maud Gladys Ballam for divorce before Chief Justice Morrison in the Supreme Court to-day. C. L. Harrison appeared for the petitioner. A question of damages sought against the co-respondent was reserved.

Ralph Berrill, local architect, has been instructed to proceed with the preparation of plans for the country resort hotel which, as announced in The Times a few days ago, will be built by Victor and Shavagnan on the site of the old Koenig Hotel at Shavagnan Lake. The development programme, apart from the hotel, includes a golf course and clubhouse.

The ninth anniversary of the forming of Canada's first anti-violence society will be celebrated to-morrow evening at the New Thought Hall, Fort Street, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. L. Batchelor, Miss D. Bagnshaw, H. Hollins and R. Stoffer will contribute to the entertainment. Ernest Fowler, M.D. of Vancouver will be the guest of honor and will deliver an address. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. The meeting is open to the public.

Registration for the provincial voters list has about two weeks to run before the list closes on April 5. For those resident in Victoria city, Oak Bay or the Esquimalt electoral districts, registration may be effected at the Courthouse, Bastion Street. For those in the Saanich electoral district, J. O. Dobbs, R.M.D. 4, Cadboro Bay, has opened an office at that address. Registration is open to British subject of twenty-one years of age, six months resident in the province and one month in the district. No fees are attached to the process.

Permits for two bungalows were taken out at the City Hall this morning. The Victoria Realty Building Company Limited will build a two-room bungalow at 2530 Vancouver Street for Fred Middleton, at an estimated cost of $1,200. Permit was issued to O. S. Crowther for a five-room bungalow at 2749 Victor Street, to cost $2,800. March to date has produced sixty-three permits valued at $669,000. The total for the year to date is 174 permits, for $943,700.

The regular monthly meeting of the British Campers of the Canadian Legion will be held on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Victoria Branch, Courtney Street. Interesting reminiscences of the North West Rebellion of 1885 will be given, including accounts of the Battle of Carleton Place, and the capture of Riel. Veterans of the campaign will be the guests of the evening and will tell of their experiences. W. G. Stone, representative of the Canadian Legion, will pay an official visit and speak on its activities.

In the Y.W.C.A. this evening at 8 o'clock, a public meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Sunday School Mission will be held. In the interests of children on Vancouver Island, Scripture memorizing competitions are being arranged. Successful pupils will be awarded free camping outings during the summer holidays. Miss Brook of the Three Hills, Alberta, is visiting here and with Miss L. Rice, of Duncan, who have just completed a tour of the island, will address the meeting. W. B. Fisher is honorary local secretary. Miss Leona Rice, of Duncan, is honorary traveling secretary.

On Monday evening an interesting lecture by Canon F. A. P. Chadwick was enjoyed by the St. John's A.Y.P.A. and members of the congregation. The address was entitled "The Ideals of St. John's Church," which he said, "to show Christ as well as possible; to learn what governed Christ's life and then let it govern our lives; to have a young people's congregation; to missionary congregation; and to have every member a worker." Canon Chadwick spoke of the proposed parish hall, and emphasized the fact that the accommodation for the young people, especially children, would be considered before anything else, for in a few years they would be the leaders and support of the church. After the lecture every one inspected the plans for the parish hall, and listened with interest while Canon Chadwick explained them.

E. Gower.

GARAGE AND CAR LOST IN MORNING FIRE

An automobile and garage belonging to C. Moore, Jackson Street, were destroyed in a house which started shortly after 2 o'clock this morning.

The fire department answered a call to the scene of the fire but the house was well under way when the engine arrived and the small structure and its contents were beyond saving.

A roof fire at 1024 Richmond Road was attended by the department at 10:50 o'clock, being extinguished with little damage.

INCOME TAX RETURNS DUE

March 31 Is Final Date For Those Who Must Present Returns

C. B. Peterson, Commissioner of Income Tax for the Provincial Department of Finance, draws attention to the necessity for filing income tax returns on or before March 31, for the calendar year 1929.

Returns are required, it is stated, from every corporation or joint stock company, every partnership and every person engaged in business of any kind, or practicing any profession, and from every other person in receipt of income from salary, pension, commission, fees, bonus, acquisition interest, dividends, rent, or other income from any source whatsoever, in excess of (a) in the cases of a married person, $1,200; (b) in the case of a single person, $1,200.

Individuals whose total income from all sources is less than the amount specified and who file a return unless requested by the Assessor to do so. Where a tax is payable the amount of the tax is not payable until thirty days after the date upon which the Assessor's notice of assessment is received. Help in the preparation of returns is volunteered by the department through the staff of the Assessor.

Narrow Escape From Death By Gas in Vancouver

Vancouver, March 25.—Overcome by a flow of gas which poured into his home on Hamilton Street here this morning, A. E. Greenwood, for many years night editor of The Daily Province, was saved from death by prompt first aid rendered by Detective-Sgt. A. E. Champion and Detective J. Morrison, who were summoned.

According to reports to police, the gas company was making alterations to installation at the house and in the process the housekeeper, who was on the second floor, was overcome by the gas. Greenwood, who was on the first floor, was awakened by the gas and found his wife unconscious. He rushed to her and found her lying on the floor. He called for help and the police arrived shortly. Greenwood was taken to the hospital and his wife is recovering.

INQUIRY INTO DIVISION OF BIG ESTATE URGED

Winnipeg Laborite Asks Manitoba Legislature to Investigate Macdonald Will

Says House Has Duty of Looking After Province's Public Institutions

Winnipeg, March 25.—A resolution urging appointment of a committee of the House to inquire into all matters relating to the disposition of the $2,000,000 estate of the late Alexander Macdonald is before the Manitoba Legislature, sponsored by S. J. Farmer, Labor member for Winnipeg.

"There was a grave public interest involved," said Mr. Farmer in speaking at motion yesterday afternoon. "I will draw up by Mr. Macdonald in 1923 was complete, with the exception that it bore only one signature of a witness, whereas the law required two. This will instructed that the estate be turned over to a number of charitable institutions. When the incomplete document was brought to the attention of Mr. Macdonald in 1927, he ordered a new will drawn and based largely on the old one. A copy of this later will was found on file with the original 1923 will, said the Labor member, but no trace could be found of the original will."

PRESENTED FOR PROBATE

Another document was brought before the court for probate following Mr. Macdonald's death, which omitted all bequests to charities and left the entire estate in the hands of a son, a daughter and the daughter's husband, said Mr. Farmer. Only the latter two now survived.

Request for probate of the final will had been withdrawn and letters of administration sought as if Mr. Macdonald had died intestate. Suspicion that grave irregularities existed in the drawing of this document could be gathered from this, believed Mr. Farmer.

DUTY OF LEGISLATURE

The proposed institution of an inquiry because he thought final disposition of the estate had been decided opposite to the attitude of the late Mr. Macdonald and because it was the duty of the House to look after the welfare of its public institutions.

The committee of inquiry would have power to summon witnesses, administer oaths or take affirmations and to require production of books and records it deemed necessary.

Attorney-General Major moved adjournment of the debate.

CONVICTION IN COUNTY TRIAL

J. Whims Sentenced to Eighteen Months For Salt Spring Island Offence

At the close of a two-day trial in the County (criminal) Court, J. Whims was sentenced to eighteen months imprisonment to-day on a charge of unlawfully disposing of a ram, the property of a Salt Spring Island resident. The prosecution was brought by the Provincial Police, with R. A. Woodson for the Crown and J. B. Clarifue for the defence.

The accused denied the charge, stating he believed the ram to have been found on the island and which he had recently sheared.

A conviction was returned after an extended hearing, in which number of Salt Spring Island witnesses were called.

POLICE SEARCH FOR CHINAMAN IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, March 25.—Accused of distributing narcotics, Wong Wah Chee failed to appear in police court to-day to answer the charge and his bail bonds of $5,000 were ordered forfeited and a bench warrant for his arrest was issued. Another Chinese is his bondsmen, police say.

Wong Wah Chee was arrested two weeks ago by Detectives J. Berry and W. Cruikshank, who were assigned to trace down the source of a systematic distribution of opium in the Chinese quarter. He appeared in police court twice, being remanded each time.

Armed with a beach warrant, the officers who first arrested the Chinese are making a search for him.

TO KEEP RECORDS

Vancouver, March 25.—A historical committee which will keep records of past efforts of the United Church Women's Missionary Society and write sketches of organizers in the three uniting churches was reported in the branch executive statement given by Mrs. A. F. Munro at the annual meeting this morning. This committee is composed of Mrs. L. Lamb, Mrs. C. A. Wickens, Mrs. G. O. Falls and Mrs. James Kerr.

EXPECT MORE MIDDLE CLASS TOURIST TRADE

Early Registrations and Inquiries Indicate Increase in Holiday Visitors

Princess David Kavanakos of Hawaii is contemplating spending a holiday in Victoria this summer, according to advices received this morning by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, which has been requested to provide the princess with information as to accommodations available.

"While Victoria is annually becoming more of a summer resort for residents of Honolulu, especially since Dr. Cooper of that city purchased Cornelius Vanderbilt's island at Sproat Lake, the most notable feature of the inquiries being received this spring is the increase in those regarding accommodations of moderate cost." Frank Glavin this morning stated, when shown a file of letters from all parts of North America.

"Every indication points to a substantially larger tourist influx to Victoria and Vancouver Island this year. This condition is the more notable inasmuch as the general experience of the northwestern resorts this spring has been a lessened inquiry for accommodations." He remarked. The bureau has received reports that persons well established locally in the business of accommodating tourists are already important customers of furnishing stores, buying crockery and bedding supplies required to provide for an increased trade this season.

NEW SCHOLASTIC HONOR COMESTO B.C. MAN

Rockefeller Foundation Awards Research Fellowship to P. W. Selwood

Vancouver Graduate Will Spend Three Years at Princeton University

Vancouver, March 25.—The Rockefeller Foundation has awarded a national research fellowship of $1,200 a year and traveling expenses, tenable for three years, to Pierre W. Selwood, who graduated with first class honors in chemistry from the University of British Columbia in 1927. He has been carrying on post-graduate studies at the University of Illinois under a fellowship.

Mr. Selwood will proceed to Princeton University to continue his investigations into "stripping atoms of electrons."

WON MEDAL

The new honor which has come to Mr. Selwood adds another chapter to an interesting and varied career. Scholarships, he has always had a brilliant record. In his entrance year at the University of British Columbia he won the Governor-General's Medal. His career at varsity was marked by success in his studies and he was chosen by the University of Illinois from more than 200 applicants as the recipient of its fellowship in chemistry.

As a milliammeter and member of the Seaford Highlanders of Canada, Selwood was one of the crack shots of British Columbia, having been chosen twice as a member of the Canadian Rifle team. In 1924 he tied for first place in the Canadian rifle meet at Ottawa, and in 1925 won the McDougall Challenge Cup there. He reached the third stage of the King's Prize competition at Biele in 1924.

MAN IS BEFORE OTTAWA COURT ON MURDER CHARGE

Ottawa, March 25.—A remand of one week was given when William Neilson, sixty-one, appeared in police court to-day charged with the slaying of Mrs. Reginald Olga James in her home here yesterday. Counsel for the aged man, who has said the prisoner believed the comedy nineteen-year-old bride of only ten months was "leading him on," requested adjournment pending the holding of an inquest.

The theory that Mrs. James was criminally assaulted by the murderer was dispelled at an autopsy held this morning. The medical examiners said it had been ascertained death was due to strangulation, that the victim was an expectant mother, and that there had been no sexual contact.

Born in Copenhagen, Denmark, Neilson came to Ottawa twenty-five years ago and since has been a permanent resident. He is a widower and was known as a quiet and rather reserved man by his employer and the family with whom he roomed.

WHEAT ACREAGE IN U.S. LOWER

Corn acreage decrease on the same basis is noted as 2.06 per cent.

Northern Airmen Mushed Home

Winnipeg, March 25.—Jim Vance and Brian Blackdale, northern airmen who wintered at Baker Lake, west of Hudson Bay, to-day had completed a 1,000-mile trek southward by dog-team. Yesterday afternoon they reached the fringe of civilization when they entered Gilliam, which is 100 miles from the Hudson Bay Railway and the farthest north point to which the "Muskeg Limited" is operating along the line to Churchill.

PORT ALBERNI IS SEEKING NEW WATER SOURCE

China Creek Supply Endangered By Logging; Bainbridge Lake Proposed

Special to The Times

Port Alberni, March 25.—Logging operations may have seriously affected the permanence of the present water supply of the city of Port Alberni, and the China Creek supply should be supplemented, the water and light committee of the city council reported on Monday night to the city council.

The possibility of using Bainbridge Lake as a source of water supply for the city should be investigated without delay, the water committee urged.

A recommendation was submitted that Mayor Steele and Superintendent Brown of the waterworks department, make the necessary inquiries and secure the opinion of the B.C. Fire Underwriters' Association as to the feasibility and cost of the suggested installation.

G. Harmsworth Is Vancouver Visitor

Vancouver, March 25.—Too much politics and too little stamanship; too much party and self and too little country and empire, that is the matter with Great Britain to-day, in the opinion of Geoffrey Harmsworth, son of Sir Robert Leicester Harmsworth and nephew of Lord Rothermere, who is a visitor in Vancouver.

Mr. Harmsworth and his companion, John Mackie, author and veteran of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, registered at the Hotel Vancouver this morning after a five-weeks' trip from England via the Panama Canal aboard the Ms. Delftyk of the joint service of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company and Holland-American Line.

REFORMS FOR BELGIAN CONGO NATIVE LABOR

Brussels, March 26.—Serious charges against officials in the Belgian Congo, Africa, were brought yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies by Emile Vandervelden, Socialist leader and former Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Interpellating the Government, M. Vandervelden quoted assertions by President Orts of the Congo red cross that negroes were forcibly recruited for public labor even when in a dying condition. According to M. Orts, the Socialist leader said, the mortality figures among the natives reached 128 to 144 per thousand, which was almost equal to the casualty rate in Belgium during the World War.

Premier Jaspar, who also is Colonial Minister, admitted the existence of individual abuses, but declared much reform work had been accomplished. He refused to order a parliamentary investigation, promising instead a gradual suppression of the forced labor system among the natives.

CHARGE AGAINST TORONTO EDITOR OF WEEKLY PAPER

Toronto, March 26.—Charged with publishing obscene literature, Pat Sullivan, editor of The Thunderer, a local weekly publication, appeared before Judge O'Connell in county court here yesterday and after pleading not guilty requested that he be tried by other than a Roman Catholic Judge.

The hearing was also featured by the withdrawal of H. J. MacDonald as defence counsel and an allegation by the accused that the Conservative Party was "behind The Thunderer."

"What bearing has this on the case?" asked the judge.

"Merely this," Sullivan replied. "The Tory Party bought The Thunderer from me and has directed the policy of the paper. The prosecution have named me as the man responsible for the issue of The Thunderer."

Judge O'Connell refused to withdraw from the case and also refused another application by Sullivan for a stay of two days in order to prepare his defence, basing it on the alleged ownership of the paper.

CLAIM DENIED

Later, Sullivan's allegation that local Conservative organizations had control of the paper when the matter was printed which resulted in a charge of publishing obscene literature being preferred against him, was ridiculed by officials high in Conservative ranks. All Conservative officials denied the allegation and said it was an absurdity.

THOMAS STATES BRITAIN TO SHIP COAL TO CANADA

London, March 26.—Very considerable orders for British anthracite and soft coal had been obtained in Canada, said Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment, in the House of Commons yesterday.

The Minister was questioned by Sir Kingsley Wood, Conservative member for West Woolwich, who asked if anything had been done to secure west-bound cargoes for the grain ships coming from Canada. Sir Kingsley suggested coal as the most natural article of cargo exchange.

"Yes sir," replied Mr. Thomas quickly, "my information is that very considerable orders of British anthracite and soft coal have been obtained in the Dominion and I am able to announce that a substantial volume of tonnage has been chartered for this trade to commence with the opening of the St. Lawrence to navigation."

Germany to Make Payment to U.S.

Washington, March 26.—In line with the Young Plan settlement, the House ways and means committee yesterday approved a bill, under which the United States would receive $273,000,000 from Germany to cover the cost of the United States Army of Occupation.

Payment of the amount has been approved by the German Reichstag. Chairman Hawley, of the committee, said. Notes relating to it have been exchanged between the two countries.

The original bill presented by this country to Germany called for payment of about $292,000,000, but this total was scaled down in proportion to the reductions made by other nations in their claims against Germany under the Young Plan.

WHY PRICE OF SILVER HAS FALLEN SO LOW

The president of the American Silver Producers' Association, W. Montague Perry, contributed to The Engineering and Mining Journal an article showing the sources from which new silver is derived. Twenty-six per cent of the world's production is derived from strictly silver ores (silicic and dry). This source of supply is becoming more difficult to mine profitably at recent prices. Lead ores account for approximately twenty-eight per cent of the supply, but the silver content grows less as depth is reached. Copper ores yield about twenty-seven per cent, but have been to a great extent offset by absorbing and hoarding in quantities. But she must support the gold standard at any cost, as the loss in silver entailed thereby would be small compared to a collapse of the gold standard.

Since 1900 the world production of silver has increased about 75,000,000 ounces and the price has decreased about 17 cents per ounce. From 1901 to 1907 the world production averaged annually approximately 177,103,840 ounces and the price averaged 59¢ cents. From 1908 to 1927 the world production averaged annually 229,824,000 ounces, and despite this increase the price averaged 64.19 cents. The production in 1928 was 253,187,000 ounces and the price dropped to 58.17 cents. There was an increase of 99,700 ounces in 1928 and 1929.

The following figures show the world production of silver:

	1928
United States	58,020,000
Canada	21,923,000
Mexico	108,537,000
Central America	3,000,000
South America	26,750,000
British India	7,404,000
Japan and China	5,000,000
East Indies	150,000
Europe	2,200,000
Australia and N.Z.	11,750,000
Australia	6,132,000

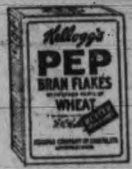

EMPIRE TRADE COUNCIL PLAN IS SUGGESTED

Toronto, March 26.—Two resolutions of empire importance have been prepared by the Toronto Board of Trade for submission to the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, which will meet in London at the end of May.

One resolution which, if approved, will be sent on to the Imperial Conference in September, urges appointment of a commission which would submit recommendations for development of inter-empire trade and which would consider the setting up of an empire trade council to foster concerted action between empire governments and the various trades and industries in the empire.

The other resolution would have the congress recommend to the various empire governments an interchange of textbooks of the empire for use in schools with the object of reviewing these books and making any changes which Prime Ministers in each Dominion may think desirable.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, March 26.—The action of wheat to-day was a distinct surprise to most everybody connected. The general news was bearish with Liverpool much weaker than due, export sales again quiet small, while most of the winter wheat had received a good covering of wet snow which should prove of great benefit to the growing crop.

The local market opened about one cent lower, but there was very little for sale and with some commission houses buying on the decline and with a little short covering, the light offerings were easily absorbed and prices quickly reacted when Chicago showed some strength.

Trade volume was not large, but around mid-season one continental house bought around 300,000 to 400,000 May wheat, which helped to give the market a strong tone, and prices advanced nearly three cents from the early low marks.

Outside of this buying, there was very little doing, the market acting nervous and erratic at times, declining over one cent several times only to recover quickly with local trade supporting. There was a fairly good general inquiry for cash wheat of all grades from both millers and shippers, and with offerings somewhat improved, but offerings were very light.

Local exporters did not confirm any business of significance but a moderate trade was done overnight.

There was nothing new in the flour trade situation, with just a small business passing in the morning.

Reports from the south stated more snow falling at many points.

Coarse grains: These markets continued dull and featureless. There was no feature to oats or barley, but there was a little speculative buying of rye.

Flax: Very little doing and nothing of feature. Liverpool is due to 1 cent higher on Winnipeg.

Dorothy Dix

EVERY normal woman wants to marry. Every woman has an instinctive longing for her own man, her children, her home. Wifehood and motherhood are her predestined business in the world. She has a cosmic urge toward fulfilling the mission for which nature created her, and when she fails to do this it is because some malign fate has interfered with her destiny.

Of course, there are a few women who are born celibates, to whom no man appeals. There are a few other women so ugly and unattractive in person or so sour and disagreeable in disposition that they appeal to no man. It is easy to understand why both of these classes are old maids, but there are many other women who are pretty and charming and sweet and amiable and intelligent and domestic, who have every quality that would fit them to make model wives and yet who never marry.

All of us number among our most cherished friends delightful old maids who are wise and witty and tender and affectionate; who are wonderful housekeepers, who adore children and enjoy the society of men and who would have made their husbands the happiest of men had they married, but who have remained unmarried because of some inferior women have made two or three trips to the altar.

And we have wondered at this and asked ourselves why do some women marry while other and more attractive women never marry?

Perhaps the first answer to the riddle of why an attractive girl doesn't marry is to be found in environment. No matter how alluring your bait, you catch no fish in a stream in which not even a minnow swims and, by the same token, many a woman fails to marry because when she was young she lived in a community in which there were no eligible young men. There are plenty of country neighborhoods and small towns from which practically every able-bodied man has gone to seek his fortune, leaving it an Adamless Eden in which the girls' chances of marrying are zero.

Very often, also, a girl does not marry because she is rich and her money comes between her and possible suitors who feel that they cannot ask her to live upon their small salaries and who are too proud to live upon her income. And very often a girl does not marry because she is more intelligent and better educated than the men with whom she comes in contact. It is significant that there are more old maids among millionairesses than among any other class of women and that college graduates run a poor second in the matrimonial race to flappers.

The home may also be included in this matter of environment, and undoubtedly one reason why many girls fail to marry is because they had no proper place in which to do their courting. The modern house or apartment that is all vistas and open spaces may be picturesque and artistic, but it is no first aid to Cupid. No man can get sentimental with the whole family sitting around in earshot listening to what he says, and when he pops the question it has to be with the assurance that a good, stout door is tightly shut and no ears at the keyhole.

Another reason that many girls do not marry is because they are chaperoned to death. Mother and father count on the fact that Sally has grown up. They think she is still a baby, and so they refuse to let her have dates and go about with boys as the other girls do, and when she goes to a party papa takes her and mamma sits up waiting for her to come home and a worse fate befalls her than Cinderella's if she doesn't get in by 11.30.

This queers her with the youngsters of her own age, and they soon drop her, so she fails to establish the contacts that lead eventually to matrimony. Of course, mother and father intend for her to have dates and get married when they think she is old enough, around twenty-five or thirty, but when the time comes that they want her to marry it's too late. She has got boy-conscious and is awkward in her relationships with men. She doesn't understand them or know how to handle them, and they fight shy of her, for the love game is like dancing, you have to learn the steps while you are young.

Other girls do not marry because their families drive every young man away who comes to the house. Sometimes it is a gruff father who makes a young man feel about as welcome as a pot of poison in the house. Sometimes it is a too loquacious mother who is under the misapprehension that her daughters' boy friends have called to see her and who gives them a pleasant evening discussing upon her relation and relating anecdotes of the time her little Johnny had the measles and Mary caught the whooping cough.

Sometimes it is a horde of little brothers and sisters who are permitted to carry on their infantile sports in the room in which the girl is entertaining her beau and to tune in on the conversation. But, anyway, when there is too much family around it is good-night for what was a budding romance when the young man goes home.

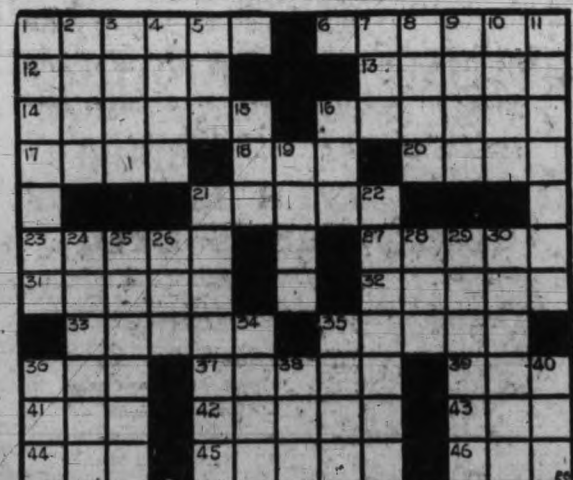

And many, many other girls never marry because their families have a misguided sense of humor that makes them tease Sally about her boy friend until she gives him up rather than be the butt of their jokes. Or because they ridicule every young man who comes to see her and pull him to pieces until they disillusion her about him so that she can only see his big feet or his crooked nose or the way he has his hair cut or how his collar fits.

It is little things like these that keep many a woman from marrying. Queer to think that a life's happiness can be marred by the lack of a quiet room and a shaded lamp or welcome on the doorstep or letting a seventeen-year-old girl go to a party or a kid brother hiding under the sofa. But it just happens that way often and often.

DEVELOPMENT IN AERIAL SURVEY METHODS TOPIC

N. C. Stewart Describes Air Photography to Astronomical Society

"Surveying From the Air" was the theme of an address before the Victoria section of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada yesterday evening by N. C. Stewart, engineer of the P.G.E. Railway Lands Survey of Resources. Aerial photographs of thousands of square miles of British Columbia's rich forest and mountain lands were shown by means of slides, graphically illustrating the absorbing details outlined by the lecturer.

Over 340,000 aerial photographs, representing something like 340,000 square miles of Canada's surface were on file in the Topographical Survey Office at Ottawa, Mr. Stewart said during his address. The P.G.E. railway survey had obtained 42,340 aerial photographs and 21,000 ground photographs. He also described the apparatus used for photographing from the air.

At the outset, Mr. Stewart pointed out it was only the photography, not the surveying, which was done from the air. A ground survey, independent of aircraft, was necessary to complete maps of the areas photographed. NEARLY 5,000 YEARS AGO. He recalled some of the history of surveying, stating that records of measurements on a stone in the Palermo Museum indicated the Egyptians had been used as early as 3,000 B.C. Early Egyptian records showed that fields along the Nile were surveyed each year owing to the effect of the floods. Romans and Greeks had fairly accurate methods of marking land boundaries. Charts of British mariners were very good, some of those made by Captain Cook still being in use.

Surveying had first been used in 1886, in later years the method of plotting the detail from the photographs had improved through the discovery of graphical means much for this development being due to the work of two local surveyors, R. D. McCaw and A. J. Campbell.

Aerial photography, said the speaker, had its origin in 1858 when the first photograph was taken from a balloon. The Royal Flying Corps had started taking air photographs in 1912, and during the war this science had grown rapidly.

COSTLY CAMERA
Simply, compactness and lightness were the chief requirements of an aerial camera, he said, describing the invention of the Fairchild Aerial Survey, Inc., a camera which was absolutely automatic in operation, taking continuous exposures and pointing nearly vertically downward. Such an instrument was valued at about $25,000.

Aircraft for the work must have plenty of power for rapid climbing, a large cruising radius, good visibility for the pilot and a comfortable place for the cameraman. Planes were now being designed especially for aerial survey work.

Speaking of the work of the P.G.E. Resources Survey, Mr. Stewart said 21,000 photographs were obtained last summer. He described the method of overlapping vertical photographs.

STARTED IN 1921
The first aerial surveying in Canada was done in 1921, when an area near Ottawa of 380 square miles was photographed. Last year 32,780 square miles were covered by vertical photography and 50,225 miles by oblique photography.

Some of the magnificent natural scenery of British Columbia was shown in Mr. Stewart's slides, which also included views of the Peace River, Summitt Lake and the Prince George country.

Major T. N. Hibben moved the vote of thanks to the speaker, and was seconded by T. J. Greenway, who recalled some of the vast developments in survey methods since an experience of his own in Patux, when it was considered inadvisable for surveyors to operate more than thirty miles from their base.

AT THE THEATRES

PLAY AT ROYAL IS SUCCESSFUL IN SECOND WEEK

The Gordon McLeod Players, in conjunction with the Army and Navy Veterans, are expecting a full house at the Royal Theatre to-night, as a proportion of the proceeds is to be given to the Poppy Fund.

"Tell Me the Truth," the delightfully amusing comedy which is being presented for a second week, is proving as attractive as it was the first week, judging by the enthusiastic audiences which have attended so far. Come as the characters are, there is something quite lovable about them. The good-natured but naughty nephew, the aunt who is outspoken, but very understanding, and the two young lovers with their delightful sentiment, all endear themselves to the audience. With a stage setting which is in keeping with the atmosphere of the play it is the most charming offering made by this company this season.

STEVEN FETCHIT'S DROLLERY FEATURE OF FILM "SALUTE"

Stephen Fetchit, the inimitable colored actor whose latest drollery is heard and seen in "Salute," John Ford's all talking Fox Movietone picture now at the Playhouse Theatre, has not forgotten, nor is he trying to forget, the days when he was a shiner of shoes. He shows his former and a rubber of Stephen Fetchit, the thoroughbred stage horse from which he took his stage name.

SPECTACULAR CAMERA EFFECTS SECURED FOR DOMINION PICTURE

Scenes of superior photographic quality are shown in Norma Shearer's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, "Their Own Desire," which is playing at the Dominion Theatre. One of the unusual photographic effects is the big lakeside dancing scene in which the entire action on the ballroom floor is mirrored in the water. Another spectacular camera picture is the night fireworks celebration in which a gigantic pyrotechnical display is featured.

O. P. HEGGIE HAS MAJOR ROLE IN "WHEEL OF LIFE"

After "Trelawney of the Wells," Richard Dix's latest, the famous play, completed its recent cross-country all-star revival, a Hollywood motion picture producing company screened the play and gave one of its stellar actors his first taste of the movies. The picture was called "The Actress" and the particular actor referred to is O. P. Heggie.

LEITCH PLAYERS PROVE POPULAR IN COMEDY "13"

The Toby Leitch Players' production, "13," is proving a big success at the Variety Theatre this week. It teems with laughter and droll situations. It abounds in mystery and excitement. Toby Leitch is enhancing the element of surprise, and thus adding immeasurably to the pleasure of the performance by shrouding advance notices also with a veil of mystery. It is one of the funniest plays he has ever produced, he says.

"SONG OF LOVE" FEATURES DEBUT OF BELLE BAKER

Belle Baker, the greatest vaudeville artist of the United States, makes her motion picture debut in "Song of Love," the Columbia all-talking, singing, vivid backstage drama coming to the Playhouse Theatre next week. Miss Baker has consistently refused to appear on the screen because she felt that the talking films are sufficiently perfected to reproduce the voice as that it is lifelike. Another factor that influenced Miss Baker to make her debut at this particular time was the script Columbia pictures presented for Miss Baker's approval. The popular vaudeville favorite felt that "Song of Love" was a vehicle that catered to her particular talents.

Bray, Ferguson and Tom Brown; from Lunenburg and Happy Valley: Messdames B. Brown, W. Caton and W. Heath and Arthur Baxter.

Progressive five hundred will commence 7.30 p.m. at the Wilfert Lumber Social Club's monthly dance on Friday night in Colwood Hall. FLAPPER IS GIVEN MOVIE PART THROUGH TALK ON TELEPHONE

Daisy Cunard, Los Angeles co-ed has a "bit" part in First National's mystery thriller, "In the Next Room," because she has a "party" line at her house.

Daisy was talking over the telephone to her "sweetie," the conversation, she admits, was long. Director Eddie Cline "budded into it" twice trying to get a wire on the same party line. The third time he shamelessly listened in, first because the wire had been monopolized for nearly half an hour, second because of the sweetness of Daisy's voice, making love to her young man.
